GREAT VICTORY IS WON BY QUAY

Elkin's Defeat Hardly Appears in the Report of the Proceedings.

STONE MENTIONED ONLY IN WHISPERS

By ROBERT SIMPSON,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 11.—For Governor—Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker of Philadelphia.

For Lieutenant Governor—Hon. William M. Brown of Lawrence county.

For Secretary of Internal Affairs—Hon. Isaac B. Brown of Erie county.

The Republican state ticket nominated today is composed of one man from the east and two from the west. The manager of the campaign will be a man from Beaver county, who has been described as a matchless leader and whose leadership never appeared to better advantage than in the campaign that culminated this afternoon in the success of Pennypacker and the defeat of Elkin.

The reason for Elkin's defeat appears less in the proceedings than in that it was omitted from them. Neither in the meeting of the state committee yesterday, nor in the Elkin caucus nor in the Pennypacker caucus last night nor in the state convention today was there mention of the state administration or of the governor of the commonwealth. Nothing good could be said, there could be no pointing with pride and in the state gathering of Republicans, where praise could not be given, condemnation was withheld except in the private conferences that took place in the highways and byways, in the hotel corridors and on the corners. On such occasion the feelings of Republicans were expressed in unrestrained fashion.

Stone in the Background.

It was a remarkable situation and the governor of Pennsylvania kept himself housed against it. At no time did he appear among the delegates. No headquarters was visited by him. He was a stranger among the men of the party that placed him in office, if unwillingly, and if they did not forget him it was not that the wish to forget was lacking.

The mind of man does not hark back to the time when a governor of Pennsylvania was so completely ignored by his party, nor to the time when a party platform omits all reference to the state administration.

It was this feeling that John P. Elkin went against in his campaign for governor and on it in spite of his popularity the hope he has cherished for years went to smash. The Republican party demanded a candidate for governor untainted by association with the present incumbent of the office. He was found in the person of Samuel W. Pennypacker of Philadelphia. On the ticket with him are the Hon. William M. Brown of Lawrence county for lieutenant governor and the Hon. Isaac B. Brown of Erie county for secretary of internal affairs.

The Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay, senior United States senator from Pennsylvania, was unanimously chosen by the state convention to lead to victory as chairman of the state committee. Many times during the day the friends of Elkin in the gallery showed disapproval of the senator, but when a man was needed for a post of duty requiring the highest possible ability no voice was raised against the man who measured up to the full requirements.

Tide Strong for Pennypacker.

Watres dropped out of the fight before the convention met. His delegates did not vote as a unit which makes the Pennypacker victory all the greater. Dr. Flood of Crawford county also dropped out of the contest for lieutenant governor, and in doing so kept votes from Pennypacker; but the popular tide ran too strong. It was the people's fight and under able guidance the people won.

The convention oratory was of a high order. It is seldom that so much ability is concentrated in one convention. But the galleries wanted action, and when the action had reached a climax they became restive for the grand finale, and it was with difficulty that Mr. Sibley could gain a hearing from the galleries for his able address as permanent chairman, in which he hewed to the line of sound Republican doctrine. The crowd was willing, as one coatless man announced, to take it for granted.

The active participants in the battle,

UNANIMOUS VOTE FILLS THE TICKET

By ROBERT SIMPSON,
Staff Correspondent.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 11.—"I move that the convention proceed to a ballot for governor of Pennsylvania."

That is the manner in which Republican State Chairman Quay prophesied the Republican victory of next November. It was after the test of strength and weakness forced by Elkin in carrying into the convention the Luzerne and Schuylkill contests. The vote announced was 196 to sustain the committee, against 159 for the Elkin contestants. The smaller vote represents the high water mark of the Elkin campaign. It was larger than the vote in his caucus last night. The only roll calls today, except the call of the roll of membership to ascertain who were present, were on the report of the credentials committee and on the nomination for governor. On the latter, the count of the secretaries showed 206 votes for Pennypacker and but 152 for Elkin.

Watres' name was not presented to the convention. It was withdrawn by Maj. Everett Warren. The first surprise of the day was the unanimous election of Senator Boise Penrose as temporary chairman.

Gen. Reeder had been selected for the place last night by the Elkin caucus, but the weakness the caucus had disclosed decided the Elkin managers not to present his name. Everyone listened for an opposition vote when Quay was nominated for state chairman, but he was the convention's unanimous choice, though the necessity of suspending the rules to elect him gave large opportunity for objection. The selection of Sibley for permanent chairman was made unanimous by the action of the two caucuses of last night.

Lewis Not in Long.

Fred Lewis of Allentown was presented for lieutenant governor, but before the ballot had proceeded far, he was withdrawn and William M. Brown of Lawrence county nominated by acclamation.

Isaac B. Brown of Erie county was similarly complimented for secretary of internal affairs.

On the two roll calls of the day the Allegheny county delegation divided 29 to 7, and Clarence Burleigh on behalf of the 29 seconded the nomination of Elkin for governor. The portion of his speech of especial interest in Allegheny county is his statement that he seconded Elkin's nomination because of his Republicanism, "because of his loyal and consistent membership in the great Republican party—of your party and mine."

Mr. Elkin made his own convention fight. When the roll was called he was substituted for Mr. Peeler of his own county, and from the floor gave notice of the contests in Luzerne and Schuylkill. When the committee on credentials made its unanimous report against the Elkin contestants, he took the stage, attacked the report of the committee, and made a speech that was an assertion of his own claims for the governorship. Mr. Elkin said:

Whoever the nominee of this convention shall be today, he ought to be the choice of a majority of the delegates elected to this convention. I don't believe a contest will hurt the Republican party. I believe that the people are better satisfied when they have the opportunity to fight their differences out in the open, but I don't believe that the great Republican party, that you gentlemen are here to represent today, wants it to go down in history that the man elected by the people in the district shall be brutally thrown out of this convention and other gentlemen seated for the purpose of defeating any candidate.

Will Be With the Ticket.

I want to preface my remarks by this suggestion. I care not who the nominee of this convention shall be today. I shall be found by his side, working for the success of the party. But, I ask you, whether you deliberately for the purpose of taking four votes away from me, are going to brutally and without any consideration whatever, throw out the delegates that the people sent down here in my favor. That is the proposition that you are asked to support in the majority report that has been read in your hearing.

Mr. Elkin contended that the contestants in these two districts were fairly elected and that it was unjust to disfranchise a majority of the voters in the districts by unseating his delegates and seating his opponent's. Continuing, he said:

It is a question for you to decide whether you are going to let the four men be seated who were seated by the people, or whether you are going to exercise this arbitrary power and do the other thing. You are to be the judges of that, but I do appeal to you, as

HIS ORGANIZATION TO BE HELD INTACT

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 11.—The Republicans of Pennsylvania may next hear of John P. Elkin as a candidate for United States senator to succeed Boies Penrose. His friends are discussing the matter. The only comment the attorney general will make is that he has not given the senatorship serious consideration.

Ge Stone, Attorney General Elkin, ex-St Chairman Frank Reeder, T. Larry e, ex-Senator James G. Mitchell others who have been prominent in management of the Elkin candidacy d re that they will give their heartiest sup t to the ticket named today and believ it will win. Reeder and Elkin both stand ready to stump the state for Pennypacker.

Mr. Elkin does not propose to disband his organization, however, and there is every evidence that while the party will be united in the general election, there will be contests in primaries. It is also apparent that the Stone-Elkin crowd intend to give serious consideration to the election of a senator in the legislature of 1903. It may be that Elkin will not be the n decided upon, but it does appear to be pretty well settled that Penrose is to have opposition.

If Elkin feels deeply his defeat in the convention this afternoon, his demeanor tonight does not show it. After adjournment, he disappeared for several hours. Part of the time was spent in general conference of the Stoneites at the executive mansion and the balance was devoted to securing 40 minutes of much needed rest. This evening he is at his rooms in the Lochiel receiving friends.

The Old Smile Returns.

The face of the attorney general while he sat in the convention was a study. He appeared pale and haggard. The usual smile was missing. His appearance did not change until the roll call was over. With the announcement of his defeat, there apparently came relief. The smile returned and he acted as though he had been relieved of a great load. Tonight his customary cheerfulness was like sunshine to his saddened adherents. They crowded into his room, found that he was not sore and decided that if he could stand it, they could. Many a grievance was lost in those rooms tonight, and the spirit displayed by Elkin made numerous votes for the state ticket.

"I have not a sore spot," said Elkin. "I was defeated, but will stand by the ticket, giving the candidates named today every assistance I can. I am willing to go on the stump if called upon. I would have won the contest had not 41 votes been taken away from me in the last two days. It is all over, however, and I am a Republican and want my friends to support the ticket. I believe that it will be elected this fall."

"General, some of your friends are talking of you as a candidate for United States senator. Are you a candidate?"

"I have not yet given the matter serious consideration."

"Do you intend to retain your organization?"

"I will certainly endeavor to keep my friends together."

Frank Reeder was in Elkin's room at

JUDGE PENNYPACKER BUSY IN COURT WHEN HIS NOMINATION IS ANNOUNCED

(Special Telegram to The Gazette.)

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 11.—When the news of his nomination for governor was received in this city Judge Pennypacker was busily engaged in hearing a case in quarter sessions court and did not finish this work until about 5 o'clock. After the jury went out for consultation about 4 o'clock he cordially received a Gazette reporter in his chambers, and said that, while he had not been officially informed of his nomination, he understood it was all right. He pleasantly inquired by what vote he was nominated, and added that he was "deeply gratified at being nominated for the governorship of the most influential and honored of the American commonwealths."

"Will you go on with your court work?" inquired the reporter.

"Oh, yes," responded the judge. "I will go on as usual. I have to hear an equity case tomorrow, and there are other matters for my attention. Of course, the summer vacation will soon be at hand, and all work suspended until the fall."

Judge Pennypacker added that he did not know whether he would go on the stump or not, as he had not considered the matter of his nomination to any great extent.

"Were you surprised at the news?" the judge was asked.

"No," he answered, "after so much newspaper talk. I must say, however, that I was greatly surprised when the matter was first broached to me."

All during the interview Judge Pennypacker conducted himself in that cool, collected manner for which he has become so noted during his occupancy of the common pleas bench. On parting he remarked that his policy, if elected, would be "that of an honorable man, who appreciated the serious responsibility placed upon him."

ELKIN'S HELP TO BE ASKED IN CAMPAIGN

Senator Quay Says He Wishes Him for His Chief Assistant.

HIS SERVICES VOLUNTEERED

By CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 11.—Senator Quay tonight said that he has not decided whom he would appoint assistant state chairman. After making some complimentary allusion to the manly manner in which the attorney general had borne his defeat the senator said:

"While I have not yet made up the list of the 12 members-at-large of the state committee, you may say that I will appoint John P. Elkin one of them, and I also intend to consult and advise with him in reference to the conduct of the campaign. As a campaign manager Mr. Elkin has few equals, and I shall draw heavily on the services he has so generously and voluntarily offered. That Elkin would give loyal support to the nominee those who know him have never questioned. He is built that way."

Senator Quay said he would leave tomorrow for a few days' fishing trip, after which he intends to go to the Maine woods for a month's hunting and fishing. Senator Penrose will also take a few days' rest, but will return to Washington the first of next week.

JUDGE PENNYPACKER NOMINATED AMID MANY EXCITING SCENES

honest men, to vote in this particular matter as your conscience and your judgment say is right, and you will go to your homes and see that you have represented the best interests of this splendid Republican party, in whose interests you are assembled here today.

One more thought—I say this with all the earnestness of my heart. A majority of the Republicans elected to this state convention, from my personal knowledge and in my judgment, throughout the several counties of the state, favor my nomination for governor.

Talks of the Instructions.

In order to defeat the will of the people expressed in this matter, it is necessary to exercise the force to which I have called your attention, to make men violate their honor and refuse to obey instructions. Why, there is a county lying up the Susquehanna yonder, where we had a popular vote and the people of that county recorded its verdict, and that verdict was in my favor by 4,400 to 400. And yet the opposition are trying to get those men to violate instructions so emphatic as that.

I want to make this simple, plain statement to you. I told you at the beginning that I was a Republican and would abide the decision of this convention, no matter what the verdict might be, but hesitate, hesitate because you have got the people to reckon with before you commit such an outrage.

It does seem to me that there must be some peculiar power in the arm of any gentleman who can say against the judgment of all of you—because as I stand in this presence this afternoon I look now into the faces of gentlemen, nearly every one of them are voting against their own better judgment in this matter. Do not add to that, an outrage such as is attempted to be perpetrated here, and that is all I have to say.

The crowd in the gallery was largely made up of Elkin men, and Mr. Elkin's reception was all that he could wish. There was also liberal applause among the delegates.

Shields Makes Logical Reply.

The effect of Mr. Elkin's speech was nullified by the brief and pointed reply of A. S. L. Shields, chairman of the credentials committee. When Mr. Shields began the gallery was under the Elkin spell and noisily interrupted, but as he proceeded he compelled attention, and won applause.

"Mr. Elkin," said he, "is under the impression that this credentials committee was not unanimous. It was unanimous, and in that committee are his own friends, who will vote for him in this convention. In the Luzerne case 18 delegates left the convention hall and 25 remained, and completed the business for which the convention met. The 18 sent delegates here to contest the seats of the delegates elected by the 25. In the Schuylkill contest the case of the sitting delegates is equally strong. In a bitter factional fight like this, could we have had a unanimous vote of our credentials committee on the report that has been made had it not been fair?

After Mr. Shields had made his speech the roll was called on the question of sustaining the report. Before the ballot on governor Mr. Elkin had transferred back to Mr. Pecler the credentials of that gentleman. Therefore, while he is recorded on the credentials vote, he is not recorded on the vote for governor.

Ten o'clock was the hour for the assembling of the convention. It was 10:45 when State Chairman Reeder called for order. The galleries were filled to overflowing and the stage was packed. The decorations were the national colors on the galleries, and big bouquets of carnations and roses on the stage. Local men were at the doors and local sentiment was for Elkin.

Brought Their Lungs With Them.

Consequently the galleries were filled to a large extent with Elkin shouters, whose lungs were in good working order. But they did not have it all their own way, though less polite than the Quay and Pennypacker admirers. Quay and Penrose were heartily greeted when they came in from the back of the stage and proceeded to seats in the body of the house. Elkin was welcomed similarly when he came in at the front of the house and proceeded to a seat with the Indiana delegation.

The convention was in the opera house. The Alleghenians and Philadelphians had front seats. As the call of the membership roll proceeded, various favorites were cheered and applauded from the floor and from the galleries, or both. When Durham's name was called there were cheers and hisses, but the cheers swelled into a mighty roar that drowned the sounds of disapproval. Alexander Crow was hailed as the next mayor of Philadelphia.

On the call of Chester county T. Larry Eyre objected to the name of Dr. B. H. Warren on the list, and insisted on a proxy being produced if there was one. It was produced immediately and substituted Dr. Warren for Walter P. Reynolds. The document was witnessed by Leonard Rhone and George M. Boas.

In the Allegheny delegation Henry Muth was substituted for Thomas E. Trimble in the Second district of Allegheny. L. L. Davis was substituted for Samuel Walker in the Sixth Allegheny district; William M. Henry for Harry P. Jones in Armstrong, T. L. Flood for Watkins G. Powell in Crawford; John C. Nisley for Albert Millar in Dauphin; S. S. Hamilton for John B. Brown in Lawrence; J. J. Snyder for Charles S. Martin in Lehigh; W. L. Gonger for W. J. Ford in Montour, and J. C. Sibley for Peter M. Speer in Venango.

Quay Starts the Ball.

The active business of the convention began when Senator Quay moved the election of Penrose for temporary chairman and W. R. Andrews and Thomas Garvin for temporary secretaries. There was no pause after the first nomination for the presentation of Reeder's name, for Reeder put the question and shut himself out, thus giving notice that it was recognized that Elkin was on the rocks. Senator Penrose acknowledged the applause that greeted his appearance on the stage with a brief speech of thanks, and said he would refrain from making a speech. The keynote striking was left for Sibley and the platform.

L. L. Davis of Allegheny offered the resolution for the appointment of the minor convention officers; Robert M. Yardley of Bucks offered the resolution for the platform committee, H. J. Riley of Delaware for the committee on permanent organization, and A. S. L. Shields for the committee on contested seats.

Then David H. Lane moved that the rules be suspended and that Hon. M. S. Quay be elected chairman of the Republican state committee. The resolution was passed by acclamation amid applause. It had been expected by the crowd that the Elkin people would oppose the selection of the senator, but they did not.

Temporary Chairman Penrose appointed on the credentials committee, which the resolution limited to seven members, A. S. L. Shields of Philadelphia, B. Frank Gilkeson of Bucks, William E. Schaeffer of Lehigh, John J. Mahoney of Delaware, A. Nevin Pomeroy of Franklin county and William T. Bell of Huntingdon. The last two are friends of Elkin. They voted for his nomination for governor, but could not sustain his position on contested seats.

Applause Was for Murphy.

When the various committees retired nominating speeches were called for. Robert S. Murphy of Cambria county presented John P. Elkin. His oratory was the admiration of both sides and he was applauded for some minutes at its conclusion. As he left the platform Clarence Burleigh arose and remained standing until the applause subsided. Then he took the platform. Mr. Burleigh's oratory is finished and forceful. His effort was equal to his best. The applause that greeted it came with heartiness from even those opposed to his favorite. Frank McClain was the fireworks of the occasion. He hurled defiance for the moment he grasped a rose from the speaker's stand as an inspiration he had thought out in advance. He was defiant to the finish.

"Far be it from me to attempt to array mass against class, he said. Far be it from me to preach any doctrine of the poor against the rich. But when a man, whom the majority of his party desire to favor with high office, is told that he dare not be a candidate, ordered out of the race, brutally thrust aside by an imperious political master and the ukase sent forth that the people shall have no voice in the selection of a governor, when the wish and will of three-fourths of the Republican voters of the commonwealth is given neither heed nor regard, because certain millionaires and certain rich corporations feel they can't use him, and, therefore, don't want him, then the time has come to change the motto on Pennsylvania's coat of arms, for Liberty and Independence have become meaningless words.

If money, not merit, ability or services rendered, is to control nomination or election by the Republican party to public office in Pennsylvania, then has the spirit and purpose of our constitution been perverted, popular suffrage made a travesty and well may the people say with fervor and sincerity, "God save the commonwealth."

Pennsylvania is an imperial commonwealth, richer in her resources than Rome in the days of Caesar. Her interests are many and manifold. A man of ability and experience should be chosen to preside over them, a strong hand is needed to guide and a ripe experience to direct. No man among all our people possesses these qualities in greater degree, or has proven himself more worthy of the public's confidence, than John P. Elkin.

Col. Watres Drops Out.

When Lackawanna county was reached Maj. Everett Warren arose and said:

"Mr. Chairman, I am requested by Col. Watres not to present his name to this convention."

This brought cheers from the Pennypacker advocates and signs of disapproval from the Elkin people.

When Philadelphia was reached Judge Pennypacker's name was presented by Hampton L. Carson, a leader of the Philadelphia bar, and the nomination was seconded by J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, on behalf of the young Republicans of the state. These speeches were not excelled by anything of the day. Mr. Carson dealt with public issues in a masterful way and dwelt on the need for the nomination of a man of the high character of Pennypacker. He spoke of him as farmer's lad, soldier, teacher, lawyer and judge, a success in each sphere of action, a man of force and intellect, clean, pure and high-minded.

The Elkin people were disposed to cry him down as he began, but his voice rose above all interruptions and his magnificent effort soon established him master of the situation. As he proceeded he was listened to with respect, and then with enthusiasm, and as he concluded the applause was loud and long-continued. Mr. Moore shared in it as he came to the front and soon won hearty applause for himself as he proceeded.

The list of counties was then called for nominations for lieutenant governor. Something was expected when Lawrence county was reached, but nothing happened until Lehigh was called, when J. J. Snyder presented the name of Fred Lewis of Allentown. On the call of Tioga county Walter Merrick took the platform. He said:

Could Make No Mistake.

"You will name a man of brilliant attainments for the highest place. The Republican party is never poverty-stricken for men of that character. You will name a similar man for second place whose honesty and integrity cannot be questioned."

He went on to speak of a man of legal training and experience in the highest law-making body of the state, who never wavered in the performance of a public duty, who is loved and admired by neighbors and friends and whose nomination would unite Western Pennsylvania.

"Give us this man," said he, "and, with the standard bearer bound to be named, we will sweep the state of Pennsylvania by the largest majority ever known."

"Name him," called a voice from the gallery.

"He is the Hon. William M. Brown of Lawrence county," responded Mr. Merrick amid cheers.

John B. Brown of Lawrence seconded the nomination and said: "Lawrence county is always in the Republican column and never sent a Democrat to the legislature."

The Rev. Dr. Flood of Crawford county, whose delegation was instructed for him for lieutenant governor, did not have his name presented. He joined the Elkin column on his arrival here and obtained a substitution. He gave his own vote and two others to Elkin and is understood to have had the promise of Elkin's support for second place. When it was conclusively shown that Elkin was in a hopeless minority he decided not to press himself, but stuck to Elkin.

The only name offered for the nomination for secretary of internal affairs was that of the Hon. Isaac B. Brown of Erie county, present deputy secretary. He was presented by George Kunkle of Dauphin county, who described him as a soldier, a statesman and a stalwart Republican. R. T. Walker of Erie seconded his nomination.

Battle Soon Comes to an End.

The candidates were now all in, and the committees reported. The Hon. J. C. Sibley was named for permanent chairman, but the vote was postponed until the report of the committee on contested seats could be acted on. This disposed of Mr. Sibley took the chair and made the convention address. On the final disposal of the credentials committee's report the fight was really ended and the crowd was impatient. Mr. Sibley was compelled at times to exert himself to be heard and occasionally had to pause to catch the gallery with a good story.

The platform, the work of Senator Penrose, was read and quickly passed, and then came the voting for candidates. For second and third places the two Browns from Western Pennsylvania were chosen by acclamation. The roll call on a choice for governor was proceeded with in advance of them on a motion of Senator Quay and resulted as follows:

Pennypacker—Adams, 2; Allegheny, 7; Armstrong, 1; Beaver, 3; Bucks, 4; Butler, 2; Cameron, 1; Center, 1; Chester, 5; Clarion, 1; Clinton, 2; Columbia, 1; Crawford, 1; Cumberland, 3; Dauphin, 1; Delaware 7; Elk, 1; Erie, 6; Fayette, 5; Fulton, 1; Greene, 1; Juniata, 1; Lackawanna, 5; Lawrence, 3; Lehigh, 4; Luzerne, 4; Lycoming, 3; McKean, 1; Mercer, 3; Mifflin, 1; Montgomery, 9; Northumberland, 2; Philadelphia, 86; Pike, 1; Potter, 1; Schuylkill, 6; Snyder, 1; Sullivan, 1; Susquehanna, 3; Tioga, 1; Venango, 1; Warren, 2; Washington, 5; Wayne, 1; Westmoreland, 3; York, 6. KNOX'S WORK COMMENDED

Honest Ballot and Fair Count Demanded for the State—Reciprocity for Cuba Is Indorsed — Compliments for Soldiers in Philippines.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., June 11.—Affirming the principles enunciated by the Republican national convention, which met in Philadelphia in 1900, the Republicans of Pennsylvania in representative convention assembled at Harrisburg declare the following platform:

Under Republican rule the country has prospered, and Pennsylvania, with her great commercial, agricultural and industrial interests, has derived a just measure of the benefits. For this we make acknowledgement to the wisdom and energy of our United States senators and representatives in congress, who have assisted in maintaining the national prestige in promoting the welfare of the state. We demand that this policy, in so far as it protects and tends to develop the industries and interests of the American people, shall be firmly adhered to.

Since our last state convention the untimely and tragic death of President McKinley has plunged the country in sorrow and brought to a loving people the deepest sense of personal loss. We lament this national calamity and cherish his exalted character and patriotic service as the most precious legacy he could leave to a devoted land. The great policies and achievements of his administration raised the republic to the highest plane of general happiness, prosperity and glory, and gave it a new position of greatness and influence among the powers of the world, his memory will best be honored by faithfully upholding the principles of which he was so illustrious a representative and by steadfastly carrying forward the measures which will forever be associated with his wisdom and statesmanship.

Roosevelt for President.

To President Rooseveit and his administration we give our heartiest approval and support. We recognize the fidelity with which he has carried out the policies of his lamented predecessor. He is strong in conviction, wise in action, thoroughly American, of high and patriotic ideals, and his leadership establishes confidence both in the state of republican principles and in the continued prosperity of the country. We pledge ourselves to his renomination to the great office which he has filled with such ability and patriotism.

In the Philippine islands under American rule, despite protracted guerrilla warfare, now brought to an end, schools have been established; justice administered by good courts has for the first time become prompt and certain; the habeas corpus has been made a writ of right; provincial and municipal governments chosen by vote have been established, and the Filipino people have been started upon the road of self-government. No nation has ever achieved so much in so short a time in dealing with an Asiatic people broken into many tribes, and we heartily approve and commend the policy of our government which has produced such results.

We extend to our army in the Philippines profound gratitude for the courage and success with which they have brought the insurrection against the United States to an end.

In Defense of the Army.

While we deplore any cases of cruelty to the natives that may have occurred and approve proper punishment and condemnation wherever guilt is proved, we demand justice for our men and due consideration for the sufferings and provocations they have undergone. We resent, and we appeal to the American people to resent, the wholesale attacks of the Democratic party upon our soldiers and sailors, which are made for political purposes, now as they were after Appomattox, and which seek to tarnish the fame of the army which is now the common heritage and possession of the American people.

We rejoice to know that the purpose for which the United States entered upon a war with Spain, as defined by President McKinley, has been realized, that a full and final termination of hostilities between the government of Spain and the people of Cuba has been secured; that the establishment of a republican government in the island, capable of maintaining order and observing its international obligations, insuring peace and tranquility and the security of its citizens, as well as our own, has taken place; we rejoice to know that the result has been effected by the valor of American soldiers and the wise administration of American officers, and that, all our pledges kept, Cuba has taken her place, a new republic among the nations of the earth.

Indorse Cuban Reciprocity.

To the end that our past contributions to the cause of Cuba may not be imperiled, but that prosperity and independence may go hand in hand, we indorse the recommendation of President Roosevelt that the United States should enter into reciprocal trade relations with the republic of Cuba that shall be mutually advantageous to it and to the United States, and all efforts to that end of our representatives in both houses of congress we cordially indorse.

We reaffirm our unswerving loyalty to the republican principles of a protective tariff and deprecate any suggestion under existing circumstances of a general revision of the existing tariff laws. Under its beneficent operation we are in the enjoyment of unparalleled prosperity. Capital and labor are both remuneratively employed, our home market has largely increased, we have secured our fair share of the markets of the world, with promise of still further conquests therein. Having reduced taxation within three years to the amount of $115,000,000, we are still in receipt of ample revenues, having conducted an expensive war inaugurated four years ago; we have paid all of its cost and still find the national treasury today richer by $33,000,000 than it was before the war began. We believe it to be the dictate of wisdom to let well enough alone and not to imperil business interests by any suggestion of present interference with revenue legislation.

Our Debt to the Soldier.

While we feel a deep sense of gratitude to the soldiers and sailors who fought to preserve the union and recommend now, as ever, just and liberal pensions to those who were wounded, as well as to the families of those who gave up their lives to the service, we also commend the gallantry and self-sacrifice of the younger generation of soldiers and sailors who served in the war with Spain and who are now engaged in maintaining the authority of their country in the Philippines.

The same fair treatment that the Republican party has always insisted upon for the men of the Grand Army of the Republic is commended with equal force and sincerity to the participants in our more recent wars.

We heartily approve the action of the president of the United States, through his attorney general, in instituting proceedings to check the growth of unlawful combinations intended to raise the price of commodities at the expense of the consumer, and we recommend that similar action be taken in all cases where the people are oppressed by trusts and combination through the illegal manipulation of fuel or food supplies. We further affirm the friendship of the Republican party for the breadwinner and home builder whenever and wherever his rights under the law are assailed.

Remember a Great Stateman's Work.

We point with pride to the passage by the Republican party in 1890 of the law devised by John Sherman to prohibit and punish combinations in restraint of trade, the control of wages or the advancing of prices, and challenge the Democratic party with all its pretense to cite a single enactment justifying its claim of friendship for the workingman. Unequivocally and with emphasis this convention declares for a pure and honest ballot in the state of Pennsylvania and for the enactment of such laws or the amendment of existing laws as will most effectively and speedily accomplish this most desirable purpose. The Republican party of Pennsylvania stands prepared to aid any or all other parties in remedying any defects that may exist in the present system of popular suffrage, or to advance any new plan that will vouchsafe to the people an honest ballot and fair count.

We place ourselves on record as favoring the passage of wise immigration laws, to the end that anarchy may be forever driven from this country and that the American workingman shall be paid against unfair labor from abroad.

In common with our countrymen from other states, we feel the importance of the construction of an isthmian canal for the advancement of commerce and to facilitate international trade relations.

ATTY. GEN. JOHN P. ELKIN,
The Defeated Candidate.

REJOICING IN NEW CASTLE

Citizens Are Planning a Public Demonstration in Honor of Wm. M. Brown's Nomination.

NEW CASTLE, PA., June 11.—(Special.)—The intelligence of the Hon. William M. Brown's nomination for the lieutenant governorship was received with great enthusiasm. Party lines were forgotten and all were pleased over the compliment of his selection by acclamation. The newspaper and telegraph offices were besieged by anxious crowds, eager for news from Harrisburg.

Plans are on foot for a public greeting to Senator Brown, who will be welcomed at the station tomorrow by politicians and lifelong friends and congratulated over his nomination. The people of the entire county supported his candidacy, political lines being carried away by enthusiasm over the honor of having a local man in the state ticket for the first time since Lawrence county was organized.

ELKIN'S EYES NOW TURNING TO NEW ROLE

I am confident that Mr. Elkin will respond to any party call. I am satisfied that the whole ticket will be elected.

"I also told John that there must be no personal attacks upon Quay. I have long been a friend of the senator, and it was my desire that our friendly relations should not be broken. It was likewise understood that I was to act in an impartial manner in my capacity as state chairman. There has been an honest endeavor to keep all of these pledges."

"Is it true that there is a probability of Gen. Elkin being a candidate for senator?" was a query put to Reeder.

"That is for the future," said Gen. Reeder. "I know that if Elkin should decide to go into the contest, he will give Boies Penrose many sleepless nights. Elkin is popular with the people, and knows how to fight."

Reeder drifted into a discussion of the distribution of the tickets for the convention. He says that the Quay secretaries of the committee put out all of the pastboards and that if the galleries happened to be for Elkin, it was not his fault.

"I thanked my God a thousand times today," said Reeder, "that Quay took the distribution of tickets out of my hands. When I heard the galleries shouting, I knew that Quay could not blame me with double dealing. I did not handle a ticket. They were all put out by Secretaries Andrews and Garvin.

Put Mark on All Tickets.

"It was evidently thought that I would not play fair in the matter of tickets and possibly issue a large number to the friends of Elkin, so the secretaries, representing Quay, decided to punch each piece of pasteboard with the letter 'L.' As a result there was an amusing thing this morning. A gentleman happened to secure three unpunched tickets. When they were presented at the door the keepers refused to honor them. The man came to me. I told him that I regretted I could not help him and said he would have to appeal to the secretaries. He went to Garvin and that gentleman pulled a punch from his pocket and gave the tickets the Quay approval. The gentleman with three unpunched tickets was Maj. Alex McDowell, clerk of the national house of representatives, and the man who delivered the three Mercer votes to Quay."

Gen. Reeder says that he proposes to learn whether Chairman M. S. Quay will adhere to his ruling of yesterday that vacancies on the state committee cannot be filled by appointment. One of the Northampton committeemen intends to resign and the delegation to the state convention will elect Gen. Reeder. Larry Eyre of Chester was today elected to represent his county. He jokingly remarked tonight that he thought he was sure of his seat for a year, unless Quay made a new ruling.

Will Recover in a Week.

Ex-Senator James G. Mitchell of Jefferson has probably been as useful in the Elkin management as anyone in it. There is a tinge of soreness sticking to the affable statesman of Jefferson. He explains, however, that experience has taught him that it usually takes a man a week to recover from a political licking. At the end of that time Senator "Jim" promises to get in line. He says that he is for the whole ticket, and is confident of its election. On the subject of Elkin's probable candidacy for senator he is noncommittal, but says he is ready to turn in for him.

T. Larry Eyre is a politician, and takes the drubbing of today philosophically. He is for the whole ticket, and promises to give it his heartiest support.

Tonight the Eyre delegation, escorted by a band, and Isaac B. Brown, the nominee for secretary of internal affairs, visited the executive mansion. The band played and Stone made a speech, in which he eulogized Maj. Brown and declared that the whole ticket was a good one and he would give it any support he can. The Elkin headquarters were next visited and Elkin pledged himself and the ticket.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

MAKES AND KEEPS THE CHILDREN WELL AND STRONG.

Mothers Make It the Home Medicine For the Little Ones.

The children, God bless them, are the buds and flowers of our homes. Without their prattle and hearty laughter our homes would be desolate. They should ever be carefully tended in childhood and youth, if we expect them to ripen into perfect men and women.

In the home and at school the children have their times of ill-health and suffering. We often note the pallid and bloodless cheeks, heavy eyes, nervous movements and twitchings of limbs and muscles. They complain of headache, drowsiness, weariness, dyspepsia and indigestion. All such symptoms and ailments mean that the seeds of disease will have a fast and firm hold, unless proper measures are taken to restore a perfect condition of health.

Thousands of wise and prudent parents have made their children happy, healthy and vigorous by giving them nature's medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. In many severe and complicated cases Paine's Celery Compound has restored health when the little ones were given up by physicians.

If your dear ones are not as hearty, strong and rugged as they should be in June, try the health-giving virtues of Paine's Celery Compound. It makes and keeps the children well.

PARTY LEADERS OUTLINE ISSUES AND PRAISE THEIR CANDIDATES

LOYALTY TO ALL THAT DIGNIFIES NAME OF LABOR

Republicans Gather to Voice to the Nation Their Patriotism, Says Sibley.

KEYNOTE OF CAMPAIGN

Harmony and Concert of Action That Will Insure a Continuance of Present Prosperity—Party Leaves No Problems Unsolved.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., June 11.—In taking his seat as permanent chairman of the convention, Congressman Sibley made a ringing address on Republican principles, in which he said:

"We have assembled to voice to the nation the patriotic sentiment of Pennsylvania and send her declarations of loyalty to all that dignifies labor, whether in the factory or upon the farm, her fidelity to all that ennobles human character, her adherence to those policies which throw wider open the door of honest opportunity to every man, woman and child, to proclaim her allegiance to all that makes for material progress, and her zeal for all that strengthens, protects and defends our social, industrial, moral and national life.

"The Republican party of the Keystone state will strike the keynote for that harmony and concert of action which shall insure the continuance of our present national prosperity and the realization of that more glorious destiny whose open doors we have but entered. The record of her progress is the history of all that is truest, highest and best in our national life for the past 40 years.

"Under the leadership of William McKinley what pledge of the Republican party remains unfulfilled? What promise has been broken? He found a deficit in our national budget and left us with an overwhelming surplus. The last Democratic administration was engaged in selling bonds to meet the expenses of the government. The Republican party has been engaged in the payment of these bonds and lifting the burden of obligations from our citizenship.

All Problems Solved.

"In a time of peace it had been a problem with the Democratic party how to provide sufficient revenues. Under William McKinley, even with the great expense of carrying on to a successful termination two wars waged for humanity, the problem which confronted the present congress was what disposition to make of and how to reduce our surplus revenues. He found the artisans of the nation idle. His policy repealed the mills and set them to work.

"The last Democratic administration left us a nation overwhelmed with disaster and almost in despair. The Republican party shows you a nation whose traffic is so congested that the greatest railway systems of the world find it impossible to move the offered tonnage over them.

"William McKinley found an army of tramps and Coxey marchers. He left us an industrial hive, where wage earners of every class or calling receive the highest pecuniary reward their services ever commanded. He found us insular and has left us a world power, respected not more for the valor of our arms, not more for the genius of our civilization, than for the moderation and mercy manifested to the conquered. He waged a war with Spain and in less than three years from the declaration of hostilities gives Spain again to America as her cordial friend. He found us nearly 40 years after the civil war, divided, and left us truly united states of America.

Paying Penalty of Success.

"Congressman Sibley then referred to the opprobrious epithets which had been flung at President McKinley, Senator Hanna, whose father was chairman of the national Republican committee, and at Senator Quay, by what he termed a partisan press, and said:

"Our leaders pay but the penalty which successful leadership compels, and there is no life so high, so pure, so true in its purpose, that it can escape the malignity of a venal press or a disappointed politician.

"Continuing, he said the Republican party of Pennsylvania possesses a record which challenges admiration; that in the conduct of her public affairs she has set a high mark. Speaking of the approaching gubernatorial campaign, Mr. Sibley said:

"A Democrat who has twice been honored as chief executive of this commonwealth is now urging the same pretenses which assured success to him before. He urged that our treasury was being robbed and the people's money misappropriated. But for eight years, with the fullest opportunity to investigate and know, he never fathered a stolen dime or pointed to a misappropriated dollar.

"Speaking on the tariff he said:

"Will you send a United States senator to join with others in the attack on the system of a Sibley and a McKinley? Or will you return a Republican senator who will stand for the Republican protection tariff system under which our industries have grown by leaps and bounds.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Atty. Gen. Elkin Wires Judge Pennypacker That He Will Aid in the Campaign.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 11.—(Special.)—The following telegrams explain themselves:

"Hon. S. W. Pennypacker, Philadelphia, Pa.: I have fought the best fight I know how, but have won. While I am disappointed for your election as I would have been for my own, I succeeded in making the nomination.—John P. Elkin."

"John P. Elkin, Philadelphia, Pa.: You do not owe me anything for your nomination, but I extend to you my hearty congratulations as the standard bearer of the Republican party, with assurance of earnest support for your election.—T. L. Eyre."

Greensburg Is Pleased.

GREENSBURG, PA., June 11.—(Special.)—There is a good deal of rejoicing here over the nomination of Judge Pennypacker. Controller Brown, who last week predicted the nomination of Pennypacker and declared that a portion of the delegates from Westmoreland would vote for Quay's candidate, is looked upon to-night as a political prophet. Brown, who returned from Harrisburg tonight, asserts that Quay could have had other delegations had he needed them.

Silence in Indiana.

INDIANA, PA., June 11.—(Special.)—The news of the defeat of Elkin was received in glum silence. The morning papers observed notice of what was about to occur, but the friends of the "plow boy" hoped that something would happen to turn the tide his way. The conservative Republican believe the usual Republican majority will be given by the party in this county.

before and in the convention, have since heartily and manfully pledged themselves to the state ticket. Their pledges mean that they will work for its success.

The crowds are departing slowly. Last night Harrisburg could not supply the incomers with beds and cots. Many slept in the capitol park and in doorways. Several times the supply of food has been absolutely exhausted in the restaurants. Now everybody is trying to get away and the railroads are taxed to their utmost.

NOT A SULKER FOUND IN THE ENTIRE STATE

Senators Quay and Penrose Keep Open House to Receive Their Late Opponents.

By CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 11.—The most interesting fight, within party lines, in the history of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, has been decided by a majority vote of its representatives. It is ended.

Those who have stood at swords' points for months, who have exhausted their diplomatic and strategic resources, who bitterly strove for every inch of ground and battled for every position of advantage, have accepted, with unanimity, the voice of the people and are again united. The disciplinary benefits of such a struggle as the one brought to a close today were never more happily and emphatically exemplified.

Shoulder to shoulder, marking the same time, having the same objective and one common purpose, those divided yesterday are reunited and ready to measure strength with the common enemy—the Democratic party. This is the expression of all. Everywhere are heard pledges of fealty to the ticket nominated, and in a careful canvass among those who were from the minority in the decisive roll call of the convention not one sulker is to be found. There will be no scuttle program. With good grace and proper recognition of the essential features of party usage and party regularity, those who lost are now loudest in their determination to roll up a splendid Pennypacker majority in November.

Senators Quay and Penrose, Insurance Commissioner Durham and other state leaders are delighted with the pacific condition of party sentiment. Since the convention adjourned they have been visited by nearly every delegate who supported Elkin and without exception the heartiest support was tendered for the men nominated. Col. L. A. Watres, himself a candidate for governor, and who contributed as much as any other individual of his time and influence to bring about the result, predicted the success of the state ticket.

No Cliques Follow Storm.

"The convention is over and I am satisfied," said Col. Watres. "Judge Pennypacker is an able jurist and an honest man. He will give the state a clean and efficient administration."

Commissioner Durham said: "It was a good, sharp contest, and the result is very pleasing to me. The ticket is a strong one, and its election is assured. Philadelphia will give Judge Pennypacker the greatest majority ever received by a candidate for governor in this state. One very pleasing result of the contest is that it leaves no sore spots. There will be no bolters. It is a ticket which will command the support of all Republicans. General satisfaction is felt over the men selected for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs. Both Browns are strong, and, geographically, the representation is evenly balanced. Gen. Elkin and Col. Watres will both go on the stump and their friends will help to swell the Republican majority."

Senator Boies Penrose said: "I think the ticket will command the cordial support of all elements of the Republican party."

Recorder J. O. Brown of Pittsburgh voiced the spirit of harmony and the certainty of party success. "I am a Republican," said Mr. Brown. "I never failed to support the nominee, no matter what my personal views were prior to the caucus, primaries or convention. Judge Pennypacker will receive my hearty support and I bespeak the same treatment from my friends. Allegheny county will do its duty and will roll up a big majority for the state ticket."

"What of the reported differences of yourself and Recorder von Bonnhorst?"

"They have been greatly magnified. Certainly I will work for the Republican county ticket and for no individual candidate more earnestly than for my friend Recorder von Bonnhorst. This was a fight within party lines. It has been decided. For reasons of conflicting character sufficient to justify the course taken by respective delegates from Allegheny county there was a division in the delegation. We are now together."

Burleigh Is Satisfied.

Ex-City Solicitor Clarence Burleigh, who so eloquently seconded the nomination of Mr. Elkin, said: "Of course, I am satisfied. It's a good ticket and will be elected. Pittsburgh and Allegheny county will do their share."

"It's a winning ticket and satisfactory to all," said Director of Public Works J. Guy McCandless.

Ex-Republican County Chairman W. E. Crowe of Fayette, a stanch Elkin supporter, went promptly on record for the ticket. "Our people believe in majority rule and will turn in for Judge Pennypacker and other candidates," he said. "Mr. Elkin was held in very high esteem by our people and his personal following in the county was very strong. Having failed to secure his nomination we are glad that a man so attractive as Judge Pennypacker has been selected. Old Fayette will do her duty."

WILLIAM M. BROWN

general. John P. Elkin is a man with a future. He has the quality of leadership, and I expect to see him more successful at a future time."

Before leaving Harrisburg J. Hampton Moore, chairman of the Pennypacker campaign committee of Philadelphia, said: "All Republicans have cause to rejoice in the election of Judge Pennypacker. His name and character will be a tower of strength to the party in the coming election. Young men who are looking forward in party affairs, and the veterans who have stood up in many battles can cordially unite in support of his candidacy. My earnest hope and firm conviction, based upon many talks with the friends of Mr. Elkin and Mr. Watres, indicate that they will speedily fall in line for the ticket.

"Mr. Elkin has made a brave fight, and the sympathy of a great many of the rank and file of the Republican party goes with him. Mr. Watres' fight was courageous and against many odds. While for the moment the friends of both the Republicans represent in Pennsylvania, both in political and commercial way, indicate a coming together of the maintenance of the Republican principles."

Before leaving for home, Recorder J. O. Brown called on Senator Quay. Their conference was private, but, it is said, was very satisfactory to both.

TROUBLE DEVELOPS IN WESTMORELAND

Beacom Accuses the Followers of Huff With Breaking a Deal With Him.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 11.—The split in the Westmoreland delegation may cause trouble for Col. George F. Huff in his attempt to secure the nomination for congress in the Butler-Westmoreland district. Representative James G. Beacom says that the Huffites broke their deal with him and he is no longer under obligations to support the colonel.

There was an understanding in Westmoreland that the eight delegates were to support Elkin and in return, in case of a deadlock in the congressional conference, an umpire friendly to Huff was to be appointed by the state committee. This place was all right so long as Elkin was sure of winning. If he lost control the committee, of course, went to the other side.

When Westmoreland was reached in the roll call today Pennypacker had 197 votes. Delegates Richards, J. W. Dunn and H. E. Rinehart voted for the Philadelphian and the other five stood by Elkin. It so happened that Richards was one of the men Beacom was confident would stick to Elkin. It made him angry when the break came and he promises to have a very plain talk with the New Kensington man.

By throwing three votes to Pennypacker the Huffites count upon having a standing with the state committee about the time that umpires are ripe. Congressman Showalter is the congressional nominee from Butler. He also had an eye on the umpire and turned in two votes for Pennypacker. It remains to be seen whether either will be played as a favorite.

Dr. L. C. Thomas of Latrobe was on Saturday defeated for renomination as a member of the house. He blames Beacom with not playing fair and takes credit for helping to turn some of Beacom's delegates over to Pennypacker. The doctor says Beacom has declared that he will oppose Huff.

Beacom denies that he has made a declaration against Huff. He says that since Huff broke the agreement he is no longer under obligation to him and is free to act as he pleases. He points to the fact that the Butler delegates voted for Pennypacker and thinks this will possibly place Showalter in better standing with the state committee than Huff will find himself.

Dr. Thomas, who was an insurgent the last house, says the state ticket [illegible] good one and will receive his support. [illegible] the congressional, legislative [illegible] county tickets. He predicts a good [illegible] jority in Westmoreland this fall.

In the convention today the delegates from Greene and Fayette voted for Pennypacker. The counties are in the same congressional and senatorial districts. It is said tonight that W. E. Crow of Fayette will be nominated for senator and D. S. Walton of Greene will be named for congressman. Somerset is in the congressional district, but it elected to go along with the Stone machine and is out in the cold.

Senator Walton says the state ticket is an exceedingly strong one. He thinks that Pennypacker will make a phenomenal run and that all danger to the congressional, legislative and county tickets is past.

PENNSYLVANIA THE CYNOSURE OF THE STATES

Republican Defeat Has Ever Been Followed by Train of Disasters.

MUST WORK FOR VICTORY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., June 11.—Hampton L. Carson of Philadelphia, in nominating Samuel W. Pennypacker for governor, said:

"The hour is full of solemn responsibilities. We are standing face to face with an impending crisis in both state and national affairs. New questions are fast presenting themselves, and strange issues are being rapidly evolved. The shadows cast by the gathering clouds of the coming storm are already darkening our pathway. It behooves us to be wise, clear-headed, far-sighted and self-contained. Good judgment, good nature, harmony of action and unselfishness of aim are quite as necessary to success as courage, energy and vigilance.

"The state of Pennsylvania must be true to the noble need of Republicanism. Her honor must be untarnished, her influence must be unimpaired. Her proud position in the vanguard of commonwealth must be maintained. The full strength of her voice and votes must be exerted in behalf of the highest aspirations of American citizenship. Wherever, in the past, Republican supremacy has been overthrown national disaster has followed. Whenever in a gubernatorial campaign this state has been lost to Republicanism Democratic success in national affairs has ensued, with a black train of bitter and desolating woes. The happy songs of contented industry were silenced, and starving millions cried for bread beside hearthstones that were cold. Financial credit and commercial prosperity were uprooted in the storm, and the nation tottered toward the pit of ruin whenever Pennsylvania Republicans have presented the spectacle of divided strength and distracted councils.

"In the hour of trial, whether we heed it or not, the eyes of all the states are turned to see what manner and temper of man do we place at the dead of our embattled hosts. It has always been so, it always will be so, because it is one of the incontestible truths of history that the soil of Pennsylvania has been the birthplace and the scenes of the most critical events in our annals. Her position, political, geographical and moral has made her a battleground. It was here that a creed of liberty was formulated. It was here that a framework of government was planned. It was here that slavery and secession were smitten unto death. We proudly point to Independence hall; to Brandywine and Germantown, and the holy hills of Valley Forge, and behold the sun of Gettysburg, piercing with the strenuous beams of victory, the [illegible] rain clouds of battle painted on [illegible]earing and expanding skies of the [illegible]ic that slendid boon of promise never again will the soil of this conti[illegible]nt be drenched with fraternal blood, [illegible]r be shaken by strife between brothers.

"On the eve of that tremendous conflict there slept upon the stone steps of the capitol a lad born in Chester county, who dropping his law books, had snatched up his musket and blanket and hurried to the front to fight, as so many of his family had done for the triumph of the flag and the principles which sparkled in those inextinguishable stars. It was a part of his lot, as a private in the Twenty-sixth Pennsylvania emergency regiment, to be among the first to meet the advancing foe. In early manhood a teacher in a village school in Montgomery county, later a law student of remarkable attainments in the office of that great lawyer, Peter McCall, a graduate of the law department of the University of Pennsylvania, an honored and successful member of the Philadelphia bar, a member of the bar of supreme court of the United State, a historian and a scholar, with the principles and the lines of our noblest patriots imprinted on his heart and inspiring his speech and pen, a citizen of public spirit and high ideals, a man of sturdy common sense and courageous probity of character, esteemed, beloved and honored, a jurist of learning and capacity, a judge who has worn the ermine for 12 years without spot or stain, a public servant faithful to every trust, a leader fitted by nature and training to command respect and silence calumny, let us carry the soldier lad of '63 from the steps of the capitol to the governor's chair to adorn the service of the state with the name, the talents and the character of Samuel W. Pennypacker.

STRONG FLOW OF ELOQUENCE IS TURNED ON

IS A MAN OF THE PEOPLE

Claimed the Nomination of Their Candidate by Right of Long Service in the Work of the State and Party.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., June 11.—Robert S. Murphy, in his speech nominating Mr. Elkin said:

I come to the performance of a pleasant duty. I come to name a man for governor of this superior commonwealth, who by right of service and duty well performed in the interest of his party and its acknowledged leader, has won for himself an undying place in the affections of the great body of voters that loyally rally under the eagle of republicanism. The Republican party has been justly called a party of principle; its formation was for the highest and noblest purposes that ever animated a political party; its pregnant history, the lives of its great men, but attest the reverence and respect of the people of this country, and the reason that its history is so inspiring and so interwoven in the progress of our common country is found in the fact that its aims and policies have always been to subserve and safeguard the interests of the people.

The present occasion demands that we of Pennsylvania shall not this day depart from historical precedent; the situation before us requires the naming of a candidate for the high office of governor whose life reflects the thoughts and aspirations of the people; who springs, as did Marius of old, from the body of the people, and who in season and out of season has stood as their willing representative and the champion of their rights.

In private life, pure beyond challenge; as a public servant, entitled to the commendation of all, and last, but not least, as a personal friend in his chivalrous devotion to the illustrious chieftain of our great party, surpassing even the gallant Montrose in his devotion to James.

Gentlemen, I come to name such a man; born in the western slopes of the Alleghany mountains, in an atmosphere instinct with the life and development, with fields and valleys covered with eternal fires, and where the morning dimmed the brightest stars, he comes to us out the intitutional world, he comes in the strength of his young years, as the sturdy representative of that great Scotch-Irish race that has done so much to blaze the pathway of civilization and progress in this Keystone state.

Type of American Citizenship.

He comes as the greatest advocate of militant and aggressive Republicanism to be found within our ranks. He comes typifying in his person the triumphs of American citizenship. He has traveled the road of poverty and difficulty. He has faced adversity, and in his life as a plow boy, as a mill hand, as a school teacher, as the head of the Republican organization in his native county, as attorney general he furnishes to the youth of the commonwealth the greatest hope and inspiration for future advancement that can be brought into their lives. In public life his conduct has commended him to call forth unsullied admiration, for in every contest, no matter whether from foes within or without, his voice has always rung true and strong in favor of regularity as against irregularity, for consistency, for honesty against dishonesty, and above and beyond everything else, for the American spirit of fair play.

It is but recently that this country was bereft by the hand of an assassin of one of the noblest spirits that ever ornamented any age of time. No man in his generation [illegible] any who preceded him, and by common consent, anyone hereafter can ever occupy a more eminent position in the affection and esteem of the people of this country than he who was the victim of one of the greatest tragedies of modern times. His triumphs are those of civilization, his victories for peace add to the glory and immortality of the republic, and enshrined in the hearts of grateful people will ever be found the name of William McKinley.

Gentlemen of this convention, I know of no man who in goodness of heart, in genuine patriotism, in breadth of sympathy, in consistency of purpose, in readiness for work, and in splendid ability to administer the duties of public office, who more strikingly resembles, and who is better fitted to walk in the illustrious footsteps of him whom I have named than the man who has been aleft, with unwavering courage and unfaltering skill, the crimson oriflamme of Republicanism throughout this commonwealth.

A Two-Year Candidate.

For the past two years he has stood as the unchallenged candidate of the Republican party for governor of Pennsylvania. Through a combination of circumstances, which appeals to the self-respect of every honest-minded man, a contest has been precipitated about his head and the heads of his friends, which has alarmed and shocked the spirit of fair play and the traditions upon which the very fabric of the Republican party is built.

In every contest wherein the question of his candidacy was submitted to a jury of his countrymen fairly and squarely, and wherein he personally appeared, the result was never for one moment in doubt. New laurels were added to his crown of honor, and the representatives of those people who respect him for the position that he so manfully took, and for the gallant fight that he fought, appearing here in this convention hall, demanding that he be nominated. Gentlemen of this convention, let this tour not be for he is all that is best in the young manhood of the state. Nominate him because he has always been and ever will be, devoted to the right, because all interests, great or small, confided to him are jealously protected; because he is broad and fair and humane.

It has never been my fortune to know a better, stronger and grander man, and so long as he lives, and so long as there is sufficient self-respect and interest in the best of citizenship to appreciate the unselfish claims of men like him, the institutions of this country are safe, and the cause of the people will not perish from the earth. Therefore, gentlemen of this convention, in the name of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, whose loyal son and servant he is, and in the name of all Republicans of all classes and shades of opinion, I nominate as the candidate for governor of the Republican party, the Honorable John P. Elkin of Indiana.

Mr. Burleigh's Seconding Speech.

When the applause that greeted the close of Mr. Murphy's speech had subsided, the Hon. Clarence Burleigh of Allegheny county began:

I rise to second the nomination of the Hon. John P. Elkin, once a resident of the city of Pittsburgh, for governor of the state of Pennsylvania, because he is a Republican, and because during all his life he has always been a loyal, consistent member of our great political party. By his efforts and work he has contributed to its great successes and victories. He has never wavered nor fluctuated in his political faith; he has never given to another ticket his support, or to his own ticket halfhearted support; he has always stood in the open, a prominent and conspicuous figure, for the Republican party, and the Republican ticket, from first to last, and at all times.

He is a young man. The world believes in young men. The world has need of young men. To the efforts of young men this world owes all it is today, and upon the efforts of young men must it depend for all its glorious future. So in politics, the splendid energy, enthusiasm and force of our young men have accomplished the impossible in the past, and the same energy must be relied on to overcome the obstacles before us. All power and an open field to the young men.

He belongs to that vital and most solid of all classes, the self-made man. Starting in the great race of life, poor, uninfluential and obscure, he, by his own efforts, self-denials, personal sacrifices, industry and zeal, surmounted every barrier and overcame every obstruction until today our attorney general stands recognized as one of the foremost citizens and one of the greatest statesmen of the old Keystone state.

He has won the delegates to this convention. Being a born fighter he entered the late contest and met all comers. He went directly before the people, and to the Republicans of Pennsylvania he submitted his claims. Without the help or aid of any powerful organization; yes, in opposition to and against the most powerful political organization extant, he began and completed his campaign.

There gathered around him a host of personal friends and admirers; men who are today the backbone and stay of the Republican party in this state. He threw down the gauntlet and went into every county in this commonwealth and set up his standard and his banner. He appealed directly to the people themselves for their verdict. Battle after battle was fought, primary after primary was held, delegate after delegate was elected, until today from the banks of the Delaware to the shores of the great unsalted seas comes in no uncertain tones the answer of the people of Pennsylvania, giving their verdict upon this issue, and that verdict is that they have declared by their votes at the primaries, and that they now demand in this convention, that the next governor of Pennsylvania be none other than this fearless, victorious Republican—John P. Elkin.

I second this nomination because we want the state ticket next fall to be headed by a winner—a man in whom the people believe and for whom the people will vote. A candidate who has hitherto appealed to the people successfully, and whom the people are anxious to again honor with their suffrages—a leader who cannot hot the face of man, and who will lead the Republican hosts to sure and certain victory—a man who has vindicated his own manhood—a man who has proved his own fearlessness and independence—a man who believes in the right of every individual to decide whether or not he shall be a candidate for any office and who fears not to go before the people and is willing to abide by the result of an honest ballot and a fair count.

Such a man is our candidate, and I heartily second the nomination which brings strength and power to the Republican party, adds force and vigor to its ticket, and predict that our beloved party will, with this man's name at the head of its ticket, win one of its greatest victories next November, and that the chief magistrate of Pennsylvania for the next four years will be the self-made, industrious, fearless and victorious candidate, our present attorney general, the Hon. John P. Elkin.

CANDIDATE HONORED BY HIS OWN PEOPLE

Judge Pennypacker Stands High With the Party in Philadelphia, Where He Is Best Known.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—The Philadelphia Press tomorrow will say editorially:

The Republican state convention has met the high requirements of the hour. It has justified the hopes and expectations of those true and patriotic Republicans who want to see the Republicanism of Pennsylvania brought up more nearly to the level of the Republicanism of the country. The nomination for governor rises to the just public standard. The platform, unlike some of former years, is a sound, restrained, judicious declaration of Republican principles and policies, with no uncertain voice on the silent and controlling issues of the day. Beyond and above all the audacious and determined attempt to put the brand of a recreant and repudiated state administration on the Republican organization and to commit the party to the perpetuation of its kind has happily been baffled and defeated. The people of all parties may well rejoice that the great office of governor is to be redeemed in the clean hands of Judge Pennypacker. He is a man of rugged and sterling honesty, in whose rectitude of purpose and integrity of action the most implicit confidence may be unhesitatingly reposed. Twelve years of stainless service on the bench have attested his probity and his courage. He knows the earlier and the glorious history of Pennsylvania, he has deeply studied its best traditions and influence, he has pride of race and blood and honor. A jurist of learning and ability, a scholar of solid attainments, a patriot of civic virtue and true public spirit, a man of independent mold and resolute will, he will carry into the governor's chair the attributes which assure a faithful, upright and fearless administration.

No ripper bills without his resistance and his veto, no stolen franchise with his sanction, no glaring assumption on his part to nullify constitutional amendments, no spoliation of schools or counter-check of charities. To make a good governor is unfortunately not necessarily to make a good legislature; but it is much to gain a governor who will stand as a wall of adamant against vicious legislation. That gain is secure in the nomination of Judge Pennypacker. It is the talisman of a united party. The consciences of Republicans who have stood aloof for some years or who have voted their open protest will readily accept him. They stand for good government, and so does he. They stand for public honesty, and so does he. They want a governor whose character is his sufficient pledge, and Judge Pennypacker comes up to the standard.

Senator Quay had the sagacity to recognize a threatening danger and the sense to avert it. He comes out of the convention with added prestige as a party chief. He saved the party from a disastrous blunder by his intervention against some of his lieutenants, and he was himself saved in the resulting fight, because he took a position which aligned him with the better Republican demands.

We accept and welcome Judge Pennypacker for what he himself is. We know his quality. The bench, the bar and the people of Philadelphia and of the surrounding country now it. The people of the whole state will come to know and applaud it. Come it what way he may, he bears no man's impress. His nomination is wholly his own. His nomination saves the party from a break, and his governorship will save the state from shame.

The Public Ledger says editorially:

The action of the Republican state convention at Harrisburg yesterday demonstrates the singular facility with which Senator Quay is able to snatch victory from the jaws of defeat. Cool, resourceful, self-reliant, he possesses a mastery of politics rarely equaled in American history. To attain success he commands every agency and employs every weapon that serves the purpose. Attorney General Elkin went down to defeat in the hour when triumph seemed about to crown his efforts, and it is clear that with all his political skill he was overconfident of the strength of his cause. For his victory Senator Quay is chiefly indebted to the solid vote of the Philadelphia delegation and the fidelity of Israel W. Durham, and to the reinforcements supplied in the hour of need by ex-Lieut.-Gov. Watres.

Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker, the Republican nominee for governor, possesses abundant qualifications to perform the duties of that high office with credit to the commonwealth and to himself. He has been an ornament to the judiciary. A man of unsullied integrity, of sound scholarship and of thorough acquaintance with public affairs, of irreproachable personal character, he will be depended upon, if chosen for the state's executive, to conduct the affairs of his office with dignity, prudence and regard for the public interests.

POWDER MILL BLOWN UP.

Superintendent Killed and Two Men Injured by Explosion Near Uniontown.

UNIONTOWN, PA., June 11.—(Special.)—A terrific explosion this morning blew up two mills at the Rand powder works, six miles from here. Frank Duncan, superintendent, was so badly burned that he died this afternoon. John Hughes was struck by flying fragments of machinery and timber and severely injured. Peter Tedrick was burned about the neck, but not seriously.

Duncan was feeding the large corning mill when he heard the report of a match that had been dropped and was touched off in going through the rolls. Duncan ran, but got only as far as the door when the crash came. There were over 3,000 pounds of powder in this mill and it all went upin a flash and with a terrific roar and the building was at once in flames.

The works consisted of about a dozen buildings several hundred feet apart. The wind carried the sparks to the press mill, some 300 feet to the north. In this mill five boys were at work. They barely got to a safe distance when the mill exploded. The loss will amount to $5,000 or $6,000. There is no insurance. Mr. Rand will rebuild at once.

LIFE SKETCHES OF CANDIDATES ON THE TICKET

Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker's Rapid Rise at the Philadelphia Bar.

SOLDIER AND HISTORIAN

Strong Representatives From Western Pennsylvania—Both Browns Rose by Their Own Efforts—Private Who Became Major in Army.

Samuel W. Pennypacker is a descendent of German families which settled in Eastern Pennsylvania nearly 200 years ago. Hendrick Pannebecker, who was born in Germany in 1674, came to Pennsylvania soon after William Penn and occupied public office. Samuel W. Pennypacker was born in Phoenixville on April 9, 1843. He was a son of Mathias, a distinguished physician and professor in the College of Medicine in Philadelphia. Samuel was educated in Phoenixville, Philadelphia and Yale college. He left college in 1863 to become a private in the Twenty-sixth emergency regiment of Pennsylvania, in which he served until the close of the civil war. He then studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1866. Within two years after commencing practice he was elected president of the Law academy of Philadelphia. Soon after that he began a series of important legal compilations with which his name is associated. With E. G. Platt and Samuel G. Hollingsworth, he edited a "Digest of the English Common Law Reports," 1879. He collected, in four volumes, "Pennypacker's Supreme Court Cases," a volume of Pennsylvania colonial cases and assisted in the publication of the "Weekly Notes of Cases," embracing 40 volumes.

In 1887 Mr. Pennypacker was admitted to practice in the United States supreme court. When Judge Mitchell was elected in 1889 to the state supreme bench, Gov. Beaver appointed Mr. Pennypacker to the vacant seat in the common pleas court of Philadelphia. In the succeeding autumn he was the nominee of both parties to succeed himself and was unanimously elected for 10 years. Two and a half years ago he was re-elected for another term of 10 years.

Many of the decisions of Judge Pennypacker have been famous, especially in political cases. He has a high reputation as a historian, having written a great deal on the early history of the eastern part of the state. Several of his historical writings have been translated into German and Dutch. He has served as a school director for many years and is a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania. He is a member and has been an officer of numerous historical, educational, patriotic and social societies. He was the founder of the Pennsylvania society of the Sons of the Revolution, and has been a post commander in the G. A. R. From Franklin and Marshall college he received the degree of doctor of laws.

William M. Brown was born in Greenville, Mercer county, in 1850. He was educated in the common schools of Iowa, in the Warren (O.) grammar school, the Power commercial school and the New Castle One-Study college. He read and practiced law in New Castle for eight years and was appointed special agent in the land office department of the United States in 1893, resigning within a year. He was a member of New Castle's select council for two years. In 1896 he was elected to the state senate and recently has been interested in street railways.

Isaac B. Brown, nominated for secretary of internal affairs, was born at Rassolas, Elk county, his family being one of the oldest in that part of the state. While he was a youth his family removed to Corry, where he resided ever since. During the war he served in the federal army, and, although very young, rose from a private to the position of major. He is a past commander of post 70, G. A. R., and has for 30 years been an active Republican in the western section of the state. When Thomas J. Stewart was elected secretary of internal affairs he promoted Maj. Brown, who was then the chief clerk of the department, to the head of the railroad bureau, and in a short time made him deputy secretary, a position which he still holds.

DISEASE GERMS BRED IN FILTH HARD AT WORK

Six New Cases of Smallpox and Thirty-One of Typhoid in One Day.

HILL DISTRICT STRICKEN

Streets Where Filth Lay So Long Untouched, Begin to Turn Out Victims to Dread Disease—Action to Be Urged in Councils.

Contagious diseases are raging in Pittsburgh today with greater fierceness than for many years. Six new cases of smallpox were discovered, one in the receiving ward of a downtown hospital, 31 new cases of typhoid and several cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria were reported. Nearly all of these were found in the Seventh, Eighth, Twelfth and Fourteenth wards. Readers of The Gazette will remember that it was in these very districts that the streets and alleys were found to be in such filthy condition a few days ago. As yet but little has been done to remedy the evil.

Mrs. Rosie Cox of No. 2 Jacobs alley and her daughter Ethel were taken to the Municipal hospital yesterday afternoon with smallpox. They had been in quarantine for ten days.

Mrs. Louise Charles of No. 2812 Brecksridge street, Mrs. Minnie Killiron of No. 85 Somers street, and Mrs. Orrie Reed of No. 2448 Webster avenue were removed to the hospital last night.

Jerry Connors of Second avenue was taken to the Municipal hospital yesterday morning. He had been ill for several days, and on Tuesday night he was taken to the Homeopathic hospital as a typhoid fever patient. Yesterday morning the house physicians discovered a rash over his body and sent for City Physician B. A. Booth. He said Connors had smallpox. He was removed at once. The receiving ward of the Homeopathic hospital was placed in quarantine. Eight typhoid fever patients and two nurses are held in quarantine there.

No Alarm at Hospital.

The hospital authorities are not alarmed about the case having developed in that institution. Connors was in the early stage of the disease, when it is not considered very contagious.

Complaints about the dirty streets are still pouring into the bureau of health. Yesterday 12 protests were lodged with Superintendent A. J. Pitcairn. Most of them came from the Thirteenth ward, Several were made by citizens in the East End district. The complaints concerned dead animals, decayed vegetable matter and general filth accumulation in the streets. Reports were made out by the health officers and submitted to the department of public works.

Several complaints were lodged by residents along College avenue. They claimed this thoroughfare had not been cleaned for several weeks. The residents along Walnut street told of the filth in that street. For the first time in three months the "white wings" visited Francis street yesterday. This street and also Duff street was cleaned.

Marshall Dean, 20 years of age, of Vermont street, Glassport, was found to have smallpox yesterday. He was taken to the McKeesport pesthouse.

Citizens Urge Action.

A meeting of the finance committee of Pittsburgh councils has been called for this afternoon at 4 o'clock, to pass upon the ordinance transferring $7,500 from the contingent fund to the health fund to provide means for disinfecting buildings that have housed contagious or infectious diseases. It will be approved, and a special meeting of common council will be called for Friday evening to pass the ordinance, as in the judgment of the Citizens party leaders the ordinance is important and the money ought to be available as soon as possible.

Complaint was made yesterday of the overflow of the sewer in Forbes street, between Craig and Boundary streets. Capt. John G. Bell, who lives at No. 4628 Forbes street, said that he has many times reported the sewer to the bureau of highways and sewers, but that nothing has ever been done to rectify it. He said it was not only on heavy rains that the sewer overflows the lawns, but that it does so on every rain. He further said that vaccination may prevent smallpox, and he was willing to be vaccinated occasionally, but that it would not prevent disease being spread by the filth from sewers.

MURDER SUSPECTED.

Anthony O'Donnell Is Believed to Have Been Knocked Off the Railroad Bridge.

Murder is suspected in the death of Anthony O'Donnell of No. 2818 Tustin street, who was found unconscious under the bridge of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Second avenue and Brady street early Sunday morning, and died later at the Mercy hospital. It is thought that O'Donnell was thrown off the bridge by some unknown person.

Deputy Coroner Louis Huchel is making an investigation of the case, and yesterday he concluded that O'Donnell met his death by some foul play.

O'Donnell boarded with Mrs. Wright at the above residence. His wife lives at No. 8 Anchor street. On Saturday he had been drinking at the Bennett club in Second avenue. He had quarreled with several of the members and arranged to meet one of them in a fistic combat on Monday. He left the club just before midnight.

That was the last seen of O'Donnell until he was found unconscious. After he died he was examined by Dr. Walter E. McCandless, who found several bad bruises on his head. He reported this to Deputy Coroner Louis Huchel, and on investigation he says that it was impossible for O'Donnell to have fallen off the bridge. He believes the man was attacked from behind and knocked off. The inquest will be held on Tuesday. O'Donnell had many enemies.

VALUABLE GIFTS FOR UNIVERSITY

ACTING CHANCELLOR MADE SEVERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Honorary Degrees for Ex-Postmaster General Smith and an Ohio Legislator. George Westinghouse to Give Dynamos. Vacancies on the Board Filled.

At a meeting yesterday of the board of trustees of the Western University of Pennsylvania adjourned from a week ago, the business to be considered was again not all concluded and another adjournment was taken until Saturday afternoon. The meeting was held in Recorder J. O. Brown's office at the city hall, and was well attended. Three vacancies on the board were filled by the election of Judge John D. Shafer, George H. Clapp and Alexander Dempster. Two additional honorary degrees were made to the list previously announced, that of LL. D. being conferred on the Hon. Charles Emory Smith, the former postmaster general, who will deliver an address at the commencement exercises. The diploma will be given to Mr. Smith on that occasion. The degree of doctor of pharmacy was conferred on Dr. J. H. Beal. Dr. Beal is a professor in the university, and is also a member of the Ohio legislature. He lives in Scio, O.

Prof. John A. Brashear, acting chancellor, reported that Misses Martha and Matilda Smith of Allegheny had presented to the institution a splendid addition to the collections of minerals, to be placed in the Smith cabinet, and that the family of the late Thomas M. Bray had presented a fine microscope and 1,000 slides, containing specimens in embryology and the various lines of study pursued by Mr. Bray. In speaking of the gift afterward Prof. Brashear said the slides were as fine as any he had ever seen.

It was also reported that another donation was to come from George Westinghouse, who is to furnish the electrical equipment of the new observatory, including a double set of engines and dynamos. During the year collections for the new observatory amounted to $12,500.

The new bylaws formulated by the committee, Dr. W. J. Holland, Benjamin Thaw and Charles W. Scoville, after a few minor changes, were adopted.

Acting Chancellor Brashear reported that there were 902 students enrolled this year, as against 888 last year; that there would be 32 graduates in the department of pharmacy, 48 in the medical, 46 in the dental, 26 in the law and 28 in the collegiate and engineering department.

DIFFERENCES ADJUSTED.

Street Car Employes Secure a Concession From General Manager John Murphy.

A committee representing Pittsburgh division, No. 85, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, in conference with General Manager John Murphy of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, yesterday arranged for a concession which the committeemen expect to stop the contention of the men for better rates.

Mr. Murphy, subject to the approval of President J. Dawson Callery, now on his wedding tour, decided that the men who have been employed less than a year and who, according to the new scale proposed by the company, were to receive 20 cents an hour, platform time, shall eventually receive the equivalent of what the one to two-year men are to get, 21 cents an hour.

Those employed previous to June 1 are to be paid regularly from now until December 1 at the rate of 20 cents an hour. If at that time they are still in the employ of the company they will receive in a lump sum the additional cent an hour for the time they have worked, and after that be paid 21 cents an hour until they reach the point where under the scale they are still further advanced. All new men as they are hired will receive 20 cents an hour for the first year.

F. J. Denman, secretary of the Pittsburgh organization, said last night that the offer of Mr. Murphy should be satisfactory. He believes that it will result in drawing more competent men to the employ of the traction company and thereby give better service to the public.

This adjustment gives the Pittsburgh traction employes the fourth best scale of wages of any city in the country. The three better are San Francisco, where a straight rate of 25 cents an hour is paid; Detroit, 23½ cents, and Boston, 22½ cents.

New Laboratory Assured.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 11.—Provost Harrison of the University of Pennsylvania today announced a subscription of $100,000 toward the building fund of the new medical laboratory. The subscription has been made as a memorial and will be devoted to the pathological department.

A GIGANTIC ENTERPRISE.

Pittsburgh's Great Steel Grain Elevator, Storage Warehouse, River and Railroad Transfer System. Proof of the City's Marvelous Growth.

Not one single day passes into the beyond but what adds another link to the already stupendous chain of enterprises of the city of Pittsburgh. Among the latest of these additions, that tend to expand the tide of commerce, is the Keystone Commercial Company, a corporation of recent creation, which succeeds the heretofore well-known firm of Henderson-Johnston Company, whose plant is located at 55, 57 and 59 Carson street, South Side. The parent firm of this immense new corporation was established nearly 20 years ago. Some six years since the present plant was erected, which is looked upon as being the largest and most complete grain elevator and storage warehouse in the state. The old firm, during their period of existence, carried the greatest volume of business in the flour, grain, millfeed and produce line, of the country. Their shipments to eastern and western markets were enormous.

The new corporation is composed of the following representative business men. Mrs. G. W. C. Johnston, president; Mr. James A. Henderson, vice president; Mr. James I. Buchanan, treasurer; Messrs. George M. Laughlin and George Heard. The company will make extensive improvements in order to facilitate the steadily increasing volume of business. In conjunction with the River & Railroad Terminal Company the Keystone Commercial Company proposes to erect a system of 20 warehouses on the property adjoining their present plant, which they acquired recently. The cost of these new warehouses, designed for cold storage and freight advantages, will be $2,000,000.00. The new structures are to be completed by March next.

The Keystone Commercial Company in volume of trade outclasses any other concern of its kind in the state. Their receipts and shipments of grain and poultry by rail and boat, are simply enormous. Statistics prove that the egg and poultry trade even surpasses the iron and steel traffic of the country at large. The present plant of the company covers an area of 17x720 feet, beginning at Carson street and extending to the shore of the Monongahela river. The principal structure is extraordinary in design and interior equipment. The major part of the front building is used for cold storage purposes. In the rear of this section, facing toward the river, adjoining the P. & L. E. railroad tracks, is the immense steel grain elevator, which is well worth some notice and attention. Grain bins made of solid steel hang aloft in neat array. The mechanism operating the grain elevator is certainly a scientific achievement. Where erstwhile it required days of hard manual labor to unload a car of grain, it is possible to accomplish the task now in less than two hours. This is done by an automatic system of conveyance, which is generated by electricity. The mechanical and electrical plants are likewise perfect in modern equipment. The plant entire presents many points of interest, and is worthy of being termed a credit to the city.

FOUNTAIN MEN WANT BLUE LAW MADE GENERAL

The Shopkeepers of Carnegie Threaten to Close Everything on Sunday.

WOMAN FIRST TO REBEL

When Her Husband Was Fined She Gathered Evidence Against Restaurant and Drug Store Keepers and Had Them Pay Fines.

The "Association of Fountain Men" is an organization in process of formation in Carnegie borough for the purpose of either preventing the enforcement of the blue laws or enforcing them so strenuously that the authorities who are held responsible for the present "tight" condition of the town will regret their energy. The "fountain men" are the owners of candy stores, fruit stands and soda water fountains, who think they have as much right to sell soda water, fruit and ice cream as the restaurants and drug stores.

Mrs. Louis Baker first resented what she calls the partiality of law enforcement. Mrs. Baker's husband has a bakery in Fourth avenue, Carnegie, and Mrs. Baker helps him in the business, attending to the store with the assistance of her daughter. Several weeks ago Mr. Baker was sued for selling on Sunday and paid fine and costs amounting to more than $50. Baker kept closed the next Sunday.

"But I knew that O. B. Todd, who runs a restaurant in the Husler building, owned by Dr. E. G. Husler, our burgess, sold ice cream on Sunday," said Mrs. Baker yesterday, "so I went to the restaurant, ordered, got and paid for a plate of ice cream, and ate part of it.

Made Them Pay Fines.

"The next day I entered suit against Mr. Todd, and he gave bond for a hearing before Squire McMillen, and on the day of the hearing pleaded guilty and paid his fine. Louis Reichert, manager of the Valley pharmacy, was also prosecuted for selling soda water on the same Sunday. He pleaded guilty, too, and paid his fine. I really did not like to prosecute anybody, but I don't think it fair that Burgess Husler permits restaurants and drug stores to sell soda water and ice cream, while my husband is prosecuted for doing the same thing.

"There are seven of us who are discriminated against in that way. We intend to keep closed next Sunday, but if we see that others are permitted to keep open we will open our own places the ensuing Sunday, and if we are prosecuted then we will enter suit against every drug store or restaurant that sells ice cream or soda water. I would have prosecuted a certain man who sold ice cream by the gallon last Sunday, but my husband would not permit me to do it. But they will see what the fountain owners will do if they are singled out for prosecution. We will go after everybody who sells the things we are not allowed to sell."

Angry at Woman.

O. B. Todd, the restaurant man, told The Gazette reporter that he regretted having pleaded guilty to the charge brought by Mrs. Baker. "I keep a duly equipped restaurant," he said, "and the law allows me to sell ice cream. I am going to do it next Sunday, and if I am prosecuted again I will take the case into court. Mrs. Baker can't sell on Sunday. I don't care if evrybody else is allowed to. As quick as she opens up on Sunday I will sue her."

Burgess Husler disclaimed Mrs. Baker's charge that he was showing favoritism and explained his order.

"About a year ago," he said, "groceries and candy and soft drink shops, chiefly kept by foreigners, in which you could get anything from hard cider to alcohol, kept open on Sunday. In the back streets you could see men carrying potatoes by the bushel, flour and all kinds of groceries. Some of the places were on the main thoroughfares. On Sunday crowds congregated about the doorways and goods were sold over the counter and carried through the streets. In fact, Sunday was their busy day. It had to be stopped, and the question was where to draw the line. I issued a proclamation saying that all stores must close on Sunday, except duly equipped restaurants, hotels and drug stores."

WEST POINTERS HAVE GALA DAY AT CENTENARY

President Roosevelt Tells the Young Soldiers What Their Duty Is.

PRIVATE TITUS HONORED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

West Point, N. Y., June 11.—The celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the West Point Military academy reached its climax today. President Roosevelt was the chief guest, and there was a brilliant crowd, including army and navy officers, cabinet officers, ladies in bright costumes and handsomely-uniformed diplomats.

The day's activity began with the arrival of the president, and then came a review of the cadets, a reception at the home of the superintendent of the academy, Col. Mills, the formal exercises and speeches in Memorial hall after luncheon, and the dress parade at sundown. The "centennial" banquet, with more than 500 guests, was held in the evening.

President Roosevelt's party included Secretary Root, Secretary Moody, Postmaster General Payne, Secretary Courtelyou and Miss Carew, the presidents' sister-in-law. The president was met at the station by Superintendent Mills and his staff and the staff of the academy.

Greeted With a Salute.

When the president reached the crest a salute of 21 guns was fired. The cadets were drawn up on the parade ground. The president was driven to the home of Col. Mills and then he walked across the street to the parade ground and reviewed the cadets.

In the course of the review Cadet Calvin P. Titus was called from the ranks to face the president, who pinned a medal for bravery on his breast and spoke a few words to him after the following order had been read:

"Sir: I have the honor to inform you that by direction of the president, and in accordance with the act of congress, approved March 3, 1863, providing for the presentation of medals of honor to such officers, non-commissioned officers and privates as have most distinguished themselves in action, the secretary of war has awarded to you a medal of honor for gallantry at Peking, China, August 14, 1900, the following being the particular description of the conspicuous character of the service, and for gallant and daring conduct at the battle of Peking, China, August 14, 1900, in the presence of his colonel, officers and enlisted men of his regiment in being first to scale the wall of the Chinese city while serving as musician, Company E, Fourteenth infantry."

Immediately after luncheon the hundreds of visitors sought Memorial hall, a new stone structure, where the exercises were held.

The President's Address.

Col. Mills made an address of welcome and then introduced President Roosevelt, who said in part:

This institution has completed its first hundred years of life. During that century no other educational institution in the land has contributed as many names as West Point has contributed to the honor roll of the nation's citizens.

"I claim to be a historian, and I speak simply as a reciter of facts when I say what I have said; and more than that not merely has West Point contributed a greater number of the men who stand highest on the nation's roll of fame, but I think beyond question that taken as a whole the average graduate of West Point during this hundred years has given a greater amount of service to the country through his life than has the average graduate of any other institution in this broad land.

"Of all the institutions in this country none is more absolutely American, none more in the proper sense of the word absolutely democratic than this. Here we care nothing for the boy's birthplace, for the boy's grade, for his social standing; here we care nothing save for his worth if he is able to show it.

I see the younger men as well as the older ones; the men whom I have seen myself take part in a little war, a war that was the merest infinitesimal comparison in magnitude to the one you fought from '61 to '65, and yet a war that has had almost as far-reaching effects, not merely for the destiny of this nation, but therefore upon the destiny of the world, the war with Spain, and it was a good fortune to see in the campaign in Cuba how the graduates of West Point handled themselves and to endeavor to profit by their example, and it has become by pleasure to come here today because I was at that time intimately associated with many of your graduates.

Incident at San Juan.

On the day before the San Juan fight, when we were marched up into a position, we lost communication with our baggage and food and for supper that night I had what Col. Mills gave me, and it tasted very good, and the next morning Col. Mills was with another West Pointer, Shipp from North Carolina. The next morning we had breakfast together and I remember well our congratulating myself that my regiment—we were all volunteer regiments—could have as an example men like Mills and Shipp, whose very presence made the men cool and made them feel collected and at ease. Mills and Shipp went down with out regiment to the action very shortly after it was began. Shipp was killed and Mills received a wound from which no one of us at the time thought that he would recover. I had at that time in my regiment as acting second lieutenant a graduate of West Point who was having his holiday and took his holiday by going down with us just before the assault he was shot, the bullet going, I think, in his stomach, and as he fell, he said: "Good by, colonel, I am going to die well!"

But I did not think he was. He is here all right now and his name is Haskell. And there was never a moment by day or night that I was not an eye-witness of some performance of duty being done by a West Pointer, and I never saw a West Pointer failing in his duty. I want to be frank, gentlemen. You cannot get a body of men of absolutely uniform good conduct, but I am able to say it was my good fortune to see the role of duty performed in a way that made a man proud to be an American and a fellow citizen of such people.

The developments of warfare during the last few years have shown that in the future the unit will not be the regiment, nor yet the company, but the unit will be the individual man, if he does not know how to shoot, how to shift for himself, how both to obey orders and to accept responsibility when an emergency comes, when he won't have any orders to obey if he is not able to do all of that you had better have him out of the army.

More Responsibility in Future.

In a battle hereafter each man is going to be to a considerable extent alone. It will so that the youngest officers will have to take much of the responsibility that in former wars fell on their seniors, and many of the enlisted men will have to do most of their work without any supervision of any officer. I want to realize that more than ever before the honor or the shame of the country depends upon the high average of character and capacity in the enlisted men can to a large degree only be obtained through the officers.

I found in my regiment that the best man was the man who had been in the regular army in actual service out in western campaigning on the plains; that if he had been a good man in the regular army out on the plains he was the best man that I could get hold of; and on the other hand if he had served in time of peace a couple of years in an eastern garrison where he practically had next to nothing outside of the parade grounds and barracks to do, or if he had been in an ordinary national guard regiment, that one of two things was true—if he had understood that he had only learned 5 per cent of war he was all 5 per cent better than any one else and that was a big advancement, and if he had thought that he had learned the other 95 per cent he was worse than any one else.

The orator of the day was Gen. Horace Porter, ambassador to France, who reviewed the history of the academy since its foundation. He was followed by the secretary of war, who was the last speaker.

FUSION TERMS WERE ARRANGED

CITIZENS AND DEMOCRATS WILL UNITE ON COUNTY TICKET.

Allotment of Nominations to Each Party Will Not Be Made Public Until Tuesday—Terms Ratified Unanimously and Both Sides Pleased.

Fusion on the county ticket has been accomplished. The conference committee of the Citizens and Democrats met yesterday afternoon at Citizens headquarters in Third avenue, and by a unanimous vote decided on a division of nominees satisfactory to both parties. The Citizens will meet tomorrow and the Democrats Monday, each to make out their share of the ticket. The basis of the agreement will not be made public until next Tuesday, when the names of the candidates will also be announced.

The meeting yesterday began at 3:30 o'clock. D. B. Oliver acted as chairman of the conference and J. W. Clark and C. B. Payne as secretaries. It lasted one hour and a half and at its conclusion representatives of both parties announced that they were perfectly satisfied with the result.

The members of the two committees were: Citizens—D. B. Oliver, Joseph J. Gilchrist, Thomas S. Bigelow, Charles S. Crawford, Dr. Cadwallader Evans, W. C. Reitz, U. M. Beck, R. J. Cunningham, John G. Messner. Democrats—Col. J. M. Guffey, Lewis F. Holtzman, George S. Fleming, Henry Meyer, John A. Bleichner, E. J. Frauenheim, William J. Brennen, Charles B. Payne, T. B. Alcorn and A. J. Barr. There was but one absentee, L. S. Levin of the Citizens, whose place was taken by J. W. Clark.

Strong Ticket to Be Named.

The members of both committees said after the meeting that the ticket would be a strong one and would receive the united support of both parties. It will be a representative one in every way, they say, and its makers expect that the machine will be easily defeated.

What proportion of the nominations will go to each party no one outside of the 20 men who participated in the conference knows. Information was also refused as to the extent of the fusion. It is not likely that it extends any farther than legislative and county nominees, however, as neither party would be willing to indorse the congressional nominees of the other.

It was understood around headquarters last night that the Democrats were to get the orphans' court judge, register of wills, clerk of courts and one county commissioner, with at least two of the legislative nominees.

Each party will determine absolutely on its own share of the nominations. Tomorrow afternoon the Citizens central county committee of 32 will begin the work, taking up the congressional nominations first. They will probably hold meetings daily until the ticket is arranged. The Democrats evidently expect no such difficulty in alloting their share of the nominations, for they will not meet until Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Ticket to Be Ratified Tuesday.

The two committees will meet again on Tuesday at 4 o'clock, and the ticket will then be formally ratified and nomination papers made out. The agreement on fusion was signed by all the conferees yesterday.

There is plenty of political timber in both parties. The congressional nominations of the Citizens, if any are made, are still undecided. If candidates are put up it is said they will be representative men. The latest suggestion for the Pittsburgh city district is H. Kirke Porter against James Francis Burke, the Republican organization candidate.

The North Side executive committee of the Citizens party met last night in the new headquarters in Kenyon hall to talk over the congressional situation in the Twenty-ninth district and recommend a candidate to the meeting of the general committee of 32 today. Although nothing official will be given out until after the committee reports today, it is understood that the committee has heard from George Shiras III., and that he will run against Congressman William H. Graham.

He is strong among all classes, and there is practically no doubt that the choice of the North Side committee will be ratified by the general organization of the Citizens.

County and Legislative Nominees.

In the new Thirty-second (or South Side) district there is considerable doubt as to who will be named to oppose Dr. A. J. Barchfield, nominated by the Republican organization. The name of James W. Brown has been suggested, but he comes from the Twenty-second ward, and the people of the South Side are said to want a man from that side of the river to represent them.

For the places on the county and legislative tickets there are many aspirants, but nothing definite can be said of them until the two committees get to work making up their lists.

The only exceptions are the judge of orphans' court, where J. J. Miller, a Democrat, seems to have the call, and county recorder, for which A. Denny O'Neill of McKeesport is favorably mentioned.

LINEMEN ARE SCARCE IN PITTSBURGH NOW

Companies Unofficially Notified They Can Hire Men—Sympathy of Girls Led to Discharges.

The difficulties between officials of the two local telephone companies and the linemen, which have crippled the service for the past six weeks, are said to be practically settled. The companies have been unofficially notified that they may employ any linemen who may be willing to go to work, irrespective of their connection with the union. The officials of the two companies have held several meetings and arranged to act in concert in regard to the matter, and both decided to remain firm on the question of not recognizing the union, which was the main matter in dispute.

The men previous to April 1 were paid $3 50 a day; they demanded $3 75 and a recognition of their union. The companies were willing to agree to the increase of pay, but would not recognize the union. The men have meanwhile left the city and found work elsewhere, chiefly in St. Louis, where considerable electric work is being done for the coming exposition, so that now it is almost impossible to find enough men to perform the work of repair and construction which has been held up during the strike.

The Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company previous to the strike had in their employ 60 linemen and the Central District & Printing Company about the same number. Yesterday the Pittsburgh & Allegheny company could only find eight men unemployed and the Bell company but a few more.

An official of one of the companies said yesterday that a great deal of the trouble experienced by subscribers in not being able to communicate with other 'phones was owing to the fact that many of the girl operators were in sympathy with the strikers and had reported 'phones out of order for the purpose of adding to the troubles of the telephone companies, when the 'phones were really in good condition. The Pittsburgh & Allegheny company has removed 14 out of 16 girls on this account and new employes have been given their places. It was difficulties of this kind, besides the cutting of the cables, which caused the companies great annoyance and inconvenience, as well as the subscribers.

Erie County People Happy.

ERIE, PA., June 11.—(Special.)—The nomination of Maj. Isaac B. Brown for secretary of internal affairs has put his political friends in good humor, and in his home town of Corry the news was received with much enthusiasm.

TORNADO BRINGS DEATH AND RUIN TO MANY TOWNS

Worst Storm Central Illinois Experienced Within Sixty Years.

REPORTS NOT COMPLETE

Seven Have Already Been Reported Dead and a Number of Others So Seriously Injured That Recovery Is Impossible—Property Destroyed

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Peoria, Ill., June 11.—The storms that struck Peoria at 10 o'clock last night and at 2 this morning were the worst that Central Illinois has experienced since 1843. Rain fell in torrents and the damage caused by the high winds cannot be estimated at this time. Probably the worst damage in proportion to the size of the town was at Kingston Mines, a small mining town 20 miles below Peoria. There three people were killed outright and ten were injured, three fatally. The killed are as follows:

MRS. THOMAS MURRAY.
INFANT DAUGHTER OF MRS. MURRAY.
MRS. ROBERT McELWEE.

The fatally injured are:
INFANT CHILD OF MRS. McELWEE.
ROBERT McELWEE.
THOMAS MURRAY.

The others injured are: Mrs. Mocha, Moy Mocha, Jud Marsh, Cora Rosbottom, James Lacock, Mrs. Frank Brazens and Mrs. Keefe.

Lineman Killed.

George Reardan, an employe of the electric company, was instantly killed this morning while repairing the storm damage at Glen Oak park. He was caught by a live wire. George Ashlock, another lineman, was seriously burned in attempting to extricate Reardan from the wire.

The Peoria and Pekin union roundhouse was blown down. Eight men in it escaped without serious injury, excepting Simon Spence, an Iowa engineer, who was caught by the falling walls. He is in a serious condition. Thirteen locomotives owned by the Illinois Central, two by the Iowa Central, four by the Toledo, Peoria & Western and five of the Big Four were almost totally wrecked.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific train, which left this city at 11:25 o'clock last night for Chicago, ran into a washout just above the city. The engine is buried in sand and mud, and the baggage car turned over. Robert Atkinson, the engineer, was the only person injured.

Rescued from the Water.

Shortly before 11 o'clock a report reached the police that the people living at Dry Run were in danger of drowning, as they had been caught by the flood. Rowboats were hauled to the scene at once and the police took 12 people from their homes. They were standing on pianos with the water almost to their necks.

Telegraphic communication was cut off for more than 12 hours, and it was noon today before a wire was secured between Peoria, Chicago and St. Louis. All street car service was stopped, and the fire alarm system was rendered useless.

A tugboat and a steam launch, which have been plying on the river, have disappeared and it is believed they are at the bottom of Peoria lake. Their pilots have not been seen.

Wind Blew a Hurricane.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., June 11.—Stretching across a pathway 100 miles in width, and devastating a territory fully 200 miles long, from Livingston county on the north to McCoupin county on the south, and leaving its mark clear across the face of Central Illinois, a cyclone last night inflicted a property loss which will aggregate millions of dollars and cost a dozen lives. The brunt of the storm fell upon McLean and adjoining counties. Wind reached a velocity of 100 miles an hour, and in its track were left destruction and death.

The heaviest loss in proportion to the population fell upon Merna, a village 10 miles east of Bloomington, where the town hall, used by a party of 250 for a dance, was destroyed, three of the women dancers being instantly killed by falling timbers.

They were Mrs. Edwin Martin, aged 26, wife of a well-to-do farmer residing six miles east of Leroy; her sister, Miss Lena Gahagan, residing east of Leroy, aged 23, and Miss Anna Kelly, residing with her widowed mother two miles north of Merna.

When the storm struck the building its swaying alarmed the party of merry-makers. All made a rush for the exits and a fierce struggle ensued. The three women were killed by falling timbers. The two sisters were found locked in each other's arms. Fully 50 others were painfully injured.

Wesleyan university suffered damages of $25,000.

THE WEATHER.

The weather forecast for Pittsburgh and vicinity for today is for thunderstorms and rain, which the Washington observer predicts will continue over tomorrow. The maximum temperature in Pittsburgh yesterday was 74 degrees, and the minimum 61. Even with thunder storms coming it is not likely that the mercury will fall much, as the cities directly west of Pittsburgh are having high temperature, St. Louis having 98 yesterday.

WHY DON'T THEY GO?

A Way to Push Off the "Hang Ons."

Perhaps some day you will wake up to the fact that coffee is quickly and surely doing the business for you. You wonder why the symptoms of disease which grow more and more pronounced do not disappear, but hang on in spite of all the medicines you can take.

Fixed organic disease may result if you keep up your present course, and yet it is an easy thing to give up coffee and get well. Have your cook make Postum Food Coffee strictly according to directions, and that is easy. Use enough of it and boil long enough to bring out the taste, then you will find that the famous food drink will satisfy your coffee taste and the old troubles gradually disappear.

There are hundreds of thousands of cases in America that prove the truth of this statement.

A gentleman from Columbus, Ga., says, "My wife had been an invalid for some time and did not seem to yield to any sort of medicines. She could not eat anything without distress, and naturally was badly run down in every way.

"Finally we concluded that perhaps it was the coffee that hurt her, so she quit it and went on to Postum, also began using Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food. She immediately began to improve and kept gaining strength and health, now she can eat heartily of anything she wants, vegetables and anything else, without hurting her. She has gained nearly thirty pounds since she made the change.

"I saw such an improvement in her health that I decided to quit coffee myself and you would be surprised to see the change. I have gained in flesh about 25 pounds, and have entirely lost the old, dull headaches that I used to have so much.

"Our two children are very fond of Postum. You can use my name if you like." T. M. Coggin, 1220 10th Ave., Columbus, Ga.

MEXICAN TROOPS MASSACRE YAQUIS

TUCSON, ARIZ., June 11.—Col. William Christy, president of the Valley bank of Phoenix, Ariz., arrived here today from Frietas, Sonora, with details of a massacre of Yaqui Indians—men, women and children—Monday morning in Santa Rosa canon, 35 miles from the Monas Frietas mines, by a detachment of Gen. Torres' troops.

The Mexican troops came upon the camp and without warning opened a terrible fire, sparing neither women nor children. After the first volley the troops charged upon the panic-stricken victims and massacred all within their reach. Of the guard of 80 Yaquis not a single one survived, and more than 100 women and children fell victims to the Mexican bullets and bayonets.

The troops were of Torres' command, but not under him personally. Torres dispatched 600 troops to block the mouth of the canon and surround the Yaquis. His instructions were to kill all men and boys capable of bearing arms.

POSSE BATTLES WITH CONVICTS

MEN WHO ESCAPED FROM OREGON PENITENTIARY SURROUNDED.

They Took Refuge in a Wood Where They Were Met by Crowd of Men From Salem and Portland—Capture Not Reported.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SALEM, ORE., June 11.—Gov. Gear today called out a company of the national guard and ordered it to Gervais, where Tracy and Merrill, the convicts who escaped from the penitentiary on Monday after killing three guards and shooting a life prisoner, are surrounded. At a late hour tonight a report was received here that a battle between the posse and the outlaws was in progress.

The convicts, heavily armed, are hiding in the woods two miles east of Gervais, a station on the Southern Pacific railway, 30 miles south of Portland. Reinforcements have started both from Salem and Portland. Sheriff Durbin, who is leading a posse from here, intends to throw a cordon around the woods and make escape impossible and starve the men out. Police authorities, however, believe that Tracy will never be taken alive.

Tunnel Plans Agreed On.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Controller Grout announced today that at a conference between a sub-committee of the rapid transit commission and A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, the terms and plans of the Pennsylvania railroad for entering New York city by tunnel were practically agreed upon. They will be acted upon at a meeting of the rapid transit commission called for Monday.

THE PIANOLA

The Only Perfect Piano Player

THE PIANOLA is the means of playing the piano.

It is not merely by means, but it is the simplest and the cheapest, the most comprehensive and complete, and is within the reach of everyone who can pay $250.

The other means is the human fingers, which must be trained to do just what the Pianola does—strike the right notes at the right times.

In either case the mind of the player directs the expression. It controls the human fingers and it controls the Pianola's felt-covered fingers.

The Pianola will enable you to play, irrespective of musical training, any piece of piano music ever composed—Chopin's Ballad in A Flat, Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata, Schubert's Serenade, Moszkowski's Waltzes or selections from the latest grand and light operas. The Pianola furnishes an ever-ready accompanist for dancing.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

A Thoroughly Good Ticket.

For Governor, Samuel W. Pennypacker.

For Lieutenant Governor, William M. Brown.

For Secretary of Internal Affairs, Isaac B. Brown.

For the people, Victory!

Worthy of the confidence and support of the voters of Pennsylvania is the ticket nominated by the Republican convention yesterday. Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker of Philadelphia is a man of conspicuous ability, sterling integrity, scholarly attainment and executive force. His record, from boyhood's days on the farm, through the perils of the war for the union, before the bar and upon the bench is one that appeals to the best sentiments of manhood. In the campaign he will be a leader to be proud of; as governor of the commonwealth he can be trusted.

William M. Brown of Lawrence has not been long conspicuous in politics. He served so acceptably in the state senate that he was the almost unanimous choice of his district for higher honors. He is esteemed most highly by his neighbors who know him best, which is a good sign.

Isaac B. Brown of Erie has been deputy secretary of internal affairs for many years. He is familiar with every detail of the office, has been the adviser of his superiors during several terms and will undoubtedly give that department the most competent administration it has ever had. Maj. Brown's personal character is above reproach and he has a military record of which any man might be proud.

Thus the work of the Republican state convention commends itself to the people. It was not accomplished without a fierce struggle, accompanied by some bitterness, but there is no good reason why it should not be ratified by a united party. That is all that is needed for the success of the ticket, despite the heavy burden of the state administration now happily drawing toward its end. The new ticket is in no way responsible for the acts of the present governor, and the convention practically disavowed him. The nomination of Judge Pennypacker offers to the people a trusteeship of their interests at Harrisburg in which they may have perfect confidence, so that the ticket is entitled to the active and hearty support of all who are attached to Republican party principles.

Declaration of Sound Principles.

The platform adopted by the Republican state convention of Pennsylvania is a clear announcement of party principles and a declaration of the party's stand upon national affairs which ought to be unreservedly accepted by all Republicans in the state. There is nothing in it that cannot be approved heartily by all participants in the recent family fight for the rewards which the party has to bestow. It is a document on which all those who contended for nominations can unite for Republican success, for it glories in the achievements of the Republican party and pledges that organization to go on in the way that has produced such magnificent results in the past.

The platform speaks in fitting terms of the national loss in the tragic death of President McKinley, and cherishes his exalted character and patriotic service, left as a precious legacy, to a devoted land. President Roosevelt is commended for the fidelity with which he is carrying out the policies of his predecessor, and his renomination to the presidency is advocated. Republicans have every reason to be proud of the good work done in the Philippine islands. As the platform puts it, "No nation has ever achieved so much in so short a time in dealing with an Asiatic people broken into many tribes."

Pennsylvania Republicans are in favor of justice to Cuba. The platform stands squarely by the administration program of reciprocity, as a means of safeguarding our past contributions to Cuba's cause, and as a guarantee that prosperity and independence shall go hand in hand.

The Republican party of Pennsylvania believes in a protective tariff. The platform cites evidences of the wisdom of the protective policy in the general prosperity, the healthy condition of national finances and in the extending business of the nation. It opposes a general revision of the existing tariff laws, and declares it to be the dictate of wisdom to let well enough alone.

Pennsylvania is true to the army. The success of our military operations evokes gratitude to the soldiers. Cases of cruelty are deplored and proper punishment for the guilty is approved, but justice for our men is insisted upon, and wholesale attacks upon the army, for political purposes, are vigorously and properly resented.

President Roosevelt's action to check the growth of unlawful combinations intended to raise the price of commodities is heartily approved, and the platform makes the timely point that it was the Republican party which enacted the Sherman law to protect the people from combinations in restraint of trade.

The convention declared with emphasis in favor of a pure and honest ballot, and for the enactment of laws which shall speedily accomplish this desirable purpose.

The platform makes a significant omission. There is no mention of the state administration. This was charitable. The best that can now happen to it is for it to descend into oblivion.

Mr. Elkin's Escape.

The result of the struggle at Harrisburg while a disappointment to Mr. Elkin, is not a disadvantage. The worst thing that could have happened to him would have been to have secured the nomination by the grace of Gov. Stone and the votes of the Allegheny county delegation controlled by Gov. Stone's appointees to the office of recorder in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. No candidate could have successfully carried such a load through the campaign, and to have gone down in defeat, dragging with him county and congressional tickets of the party in every closely-contested district, would have been a sad finish to his political career. As it is, he has the prestige of having made a manly and vigorous contest under adverse circumstances, and he emerges from the conflict without personal discredit.

The Gazette has always frankly admitted that there was no personal objection to Mr. Elkin. He is able, energetic, staunch and resourceful, and besides these admirable qualities of character, he possesses an experience in public affairs which qualifies him for the highest political honors. There was just one objection against him, and that was his association with Gov. Stone under a combination of circumstances which made him the representative of Gov. Stone's political interests. This burden would have crushed a less popular and aggressive man, and although in the end it overcame him, yet he made a splendid showing. The event is simply an episode in a career that has yet to run its course and which still retains its promise.

The Exodus to Europe.

What has been during the past few years noted as an increasing tendency on the part of Americans to spend some part of their vacation period abroad will assume this year almost a general hegira to foreign shores. The coronation of King Edward will afford an unusual spectacle of old-world splendor and pomp. That magnet started the procession of Americans to English ports as long ago as last winter. As the time draws near for the coronation the stream of travelers across the Atlantic grows daily larger, until it is reported to be taxing the capacity of the steamship lines. This desire on the part of Americans to go abroad is a perfectly legitimate one, and whatever evils may attach to the lavish expenditure of money on the part of the people of the United States abroad are more than counter-balanced by the advantages derived from contact with that larger world which lies beyond the rim of our eastern ocean.

The intimate communication between the United States and the countries of Europe has contributed its largest benefits to this country. Americans abroad have spent money freely for such comforts as they desired, or souvenirs, as their fancy dictated, but they have in return brought the old world to our doors and attracted its people to our superior markets and manufactories.

Europe is to the American a place of large interest from an educational and historic standpoint, and offers an excellent field for the profitable spending of a vacation period. To the European this generous invasion has brought knowledge of a land and people whose ingenuity and enterprise far excel anything known on that side of the ocean, and has established the value of America as a market for the supply of the world's needs.

No amount of advertising or merely technical solicitation could have brought about this discovery. It required the invasion of Europe by our people. Europe, by becoming the vacation ground of our people has learned that we possess the elements of strength, youth and productiveness from which she must draw her future supplies.

A Test of Endurance.

After the failure of the mission of Carroll D. Wright, there is little prospect of bringing strikers and operators together until necessity drives one or the other to terms. President Mitchell of the Mine Workers has returned to the anthracite region in hopeless mood, while the operators give no sign of weakening determination. Meantime there hangs over the mining region the perpetual fear that when hunger presses there will be violence. It will be well, indeed, if the test of endurance goes to the end without disorder, for then there may be lasting peace in that turbulent region. How long it will require to convince either side it is impossible to say, but both are suffering considerably.

The Case of Col. Lynch.

Although the admirers of Col. Arthur Lynch applaud him for his bravery in returning to England, it is probable the colonel regrets his attempt to board the British lion in its den. He knew a charge of high treason had been lodged against him, but, either through unwise counsel or reckless disregard of consequences, he left France to be arrested on the English side of the channel.

Col. Lynch has not entered a denial of the charge that, while professing to be a correspondent, he accepted a commission in the Boer army and fought the troops sent out by his own country. At the time of his election to the house of commons from Galway it was publicly announced he was supported by the voters because of his service with the Boers. Hence, interest centers on the degree of punishment that will be imposed. Fortunately for the colonel, England is at present in a magnanimous mood, and he may escape with a light penalty. In any event he will not be hanged, drawn and quartered, as was the fate of those in earlier times who were found guilty of high treason in England.

Pittsburgh Influence.

Though this month is yet young it has witnessed the issue of three railroad charters in West Virginia, all pointing toward Pittsburgh. During the decade from 1890 to 1900 the development of West Virginia was comparatively more rapid than that of any other state in the union. It was in similar proportion to that of Southwestern Pennsylvania. Since 1900 there is every reason to believe the pace has been accelerated. That portion of the state tributary to Pittsburgh has advanced in population and industry far more than any other, as in fact West Virginia's new life bears a direct relation to Pittsburgh influence.

The new railroads that have been chartered are designed to put a much larger area of the state into direct communication with this city; to bring under the influence of this prosperity making center a region as wild as it is rich in natural resources. Fifteen years ago nearly all of West Virginia except the Panhandle district was tributary to Baltimore and Cincinnati. With the first discovery of petroleum in 1888 another portion of the state came within the Pittsburgh sphere of influence. It expanded rapidly. Then began the development of the upper Monongahela valley and the western counties that has been nothing short of marvelous. Doubtless as the territory becomes more closely identified with this city the rate of progress will further increase.

One of the local organs that predicted Elkin's nomination the day before the convention declares that a dozen or twenty delegates were beguiled away from him, apparently ignoring the fact that 152 plus 20 amounts to 172 only.

It is merely a trick of the Nicaragua canal people to pretend that advocates of the Panama route are trying to prevent construction of either. The recommendation of Admiral Walker's commission proves the contrary. The rational solution for congress is to put the whole matter in the hands of the president.

Those Philadelphia organs that have, on opposing sides, lashed themselves into such a fury of cartoon and paragraph should now resort to the cracked ice cure.

Gen. Miles continues to sidestep successfully the efforts to make him the terminus of all the trouble in the war department.

The elimination of Stone from the field of Pennsylvania politics is the best day's work the Republican party has done for many years.

Senator Depew says the politicians are not friendly to President Roosevelt. The senator positively declines to be ranked as a politician.

If practical settlement of the linemen's strike is followed by better telephone service the public will be thankful. Recent conditions have been hard to bear with patience.

F. B. Thurber's testimony concerning the expenditure of Cuban government money for the circulation of literature does not affect the main question.

It is to be hoped that England will be too busy picking the lint and liniment off her recently made wounds to be very severe in her treatment of Col. Lynch.

The Stone which the people have rejected has also been pushed aside by the builders.

The bey of Tunis Sidi Ali is dead, but at last accounts old Uncle Simon Sam was very much alive.

All of the 206 delegates who attended the Quay caucus voted in the convention. Not so the other 180.

Recorder Brown wisely retracted, but some of his followers have thrown "regularity" to the winds.

Cambridge university throws in an honorary degree as an addition to Envoy Reid's other ornamental upholstery.

Those political prophets who saw Col. Quay's finish in the last fight should never attempt weather predicting as a business.

Several pairs of well worn gum shoes go out of service in Harrisburg today.

Bishop Potter's Reply.

From the New York World.

Bishop Potter spent Sunday at the country home of a parishioner a few weeks ago. After his departure a silver-backed brush and comb which had reposed on the guest-room bureau could not be found.

The servants were interrogated in vain. It occurred to the hostess at length that her late guest might have packed them by mistake in his suit case.

So, with infinite tact, she wrote a note to this effect, then waited in fear and trembling lest the bishop should have taken offense.

The next morning she received the following telegram from him:

"Poor but honest. Look in second bureau drawer. H. C. POTTER."

Husbands' Panama hats even up with the expense of their wives' Easter bonnets.

Harrisburg reports a congestion of population.

Pittsburghers in Rush to Cross the Ocean

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, June 11.

The rush of ocean voyagers is on. New York's busiest quarters just now are the steamship piers, and it is there that one can meet people from every city and almost every small town in the country in the course of a week. Among the well-known steamers which sailed from this port for Europe today were the Germanic and the St. Louis. It was on the American liner, however, that most of the Pittsburghers departing had taken passage. While Pittsburgh patronizes all the ocean liners more or less it seems to have a peculiar love for the ships which sail strictly under the stars and stripes. Pittsburgh is nothing if not patriotic. So when the American liner St. Louis pulled out of her slip in the North river this morning at 10 o'clock to the minute, as usual, there were a great many faces familiar to a Pittsburgher to be noted on the upper deck, their owners taking a sad look at their native country for the time being, as is the way of most Americans when they leave New York by way of the ocean ferry. Among the Pittsburghers on the St. Louis were Wilson I. Arbuthnot, Harmar D. Denny, Mrs. Denny, Harmar Denny, Archie Denny, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Howe, A. M. McCrea and George Singer. Hon. Chauncey M. Depew and Mrs. Depew are also passengers on the St. Louis. The last time the senator went across the Atlantic it was to fetch his bride; this time he takes her with him, and it is understood that their visit to London for the coronation is intended as a sort of supplementary bridal tour. There were several theatrical people on the steamer, as there are on all ships going across in the summer. The most prominent of the stage people are Mr. and Mrs. Nat C. Goodwin and Miss Marie George. Charles L. Knoedler, the well-known art dealer of New York, is on the St. Louis. He has gone over to see what he can pick up in his line in the art centers of Europe. He is not a Pittsburgher, but every Pittsburgh patron of art knows him.

Frank Boyle in New Hit.

Frank N. Boyle, the Pittsburgh baritone, who had a good part in "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" at the Broadway theater all winter, has just achieved a decided hit in vaudeville at one of the uptown roof gardens. His specialty is high-class musical travesties and his work has attracted a great deal of favorable notice here.

More Smoke for Gotham.

Smoke increases in volume on the rivers around New York city. The Pennsylvania railroad ferryboats all began to use soft coal today. When the big boats of the Twenty-third street line, with their three stacks, get fairly to work on their way up and down the river everybody is reminded that there is a miners' strike in Pennsylvania. The Cortlandt street boats have only two smokestacks, but even with these they contrive to send a trail of thick black smoke across the North river that can be seen from far out at sea, according to the deep sea mariners who gather in the water front resorts in the evening. The Pennsylvania railroad boats are not the only ones using soft coal, of course. Every ferryboat line about Greater New York is doing its share to cloud the atmosphere, the Pennsylvania railroad being the last to abandon anthracite coal altogether.

Rouss Family Branching Out.

The late Charles Broadway Rouss was a man of extremely simple tastes who was never heard of in society. It may be different with his son, Peter Winchester Rouss, who is now at the head of the great mercantile house which still bears the name of its founder. The present Mr. Rouss has just purchased the Quintard estate at Port Chester, in Westchester county, the price paid being, according to report, $300,000. The estate consists of a splendid mansion with 50 acres of land, and the late James W. Quintard is said to have spent $500,000 on it. Mr. Rouss expects to occupy the place himself and there is much curiosity as to whether he will entertain as lavishly as might be expected considering the pretentious character of his new home. Mr. Rouss is at his business in Broadway every day except Sunday, but is not averse to moderate social recreation, it is said. Before Charles Broadway Rouss lost his sight he was fond of meeting congenial spirits, but toward the end of his life he devoted himself so closely to business that he had little time for social duties of any kind.

Dixie's Men Spinning Yarns.

Sailors of the United States navy are always popular in New York. Everyone gives a friendly look at "Jackies" ashore who have on their caps the name of some well known warship, and if the sailor boy is willing to drink with a stranger, he can get all the free liquor he wants, more than is good for him, perhaps. Just now the tars that are the prime favorites are those with the word "Dixie" on their cap-ribbons. The Dixie did good work at Martinique, as everybody knows, and there is a deep interest in all the men that went down on her to the stricken island. Everyone of the Dixie's men has a yarn to spin, and most of them have told their thrilling stories over and over again.

In Memory of Mgr. Corrigan.

Archbishop Corrigan's memory was honored today in St. Patrick's cathedral by the celebration of a "month's mind mass." The Right Rev. John M. Farley, auxiliary bishop of New York (who will probably be the next archbishop) was the celebrant, assisted by the Right Rev. Monsignor John Edwards, of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Bishop McQuade of Rochester preached the sermon.

Mission Board at Work.

Bustle marked the precincts of Presbyterian headquarters, in Sixth avenue, today. It was the opening of the week's annual conference of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church of the United States. One of the purposes of the gathering is to give final instructions to the 62 missionaries of both sexes, who are about to depart for stations in Africa, China, India, Japan, Persia, Siam and the Philippines.

Fortune Due in Fines.

It is costing the Roebling Sons Company $1,000 a day in fines while it is working on the cables of the new East river bridge. The time limit for completing the work ended on April 21, and so far the company is liable for $40,000 in fines, with more to be piled on. The work on the cables is now going on very readily. Nearly 300 miles of wire were put up in one day this week. According to an officer of the department of bridges, the stringing of the wires will certainly be finished by July 1. After that the covering of the wires and putting on of the suspenders remain to be done.

Veritable Bower of Roses.

It was not a pleasant afternoon for the opening of a flower show, but the exhibition of the New York Horticultural society at the Botanical Garden in Bronx park had been scheduled for this date, and the program had to be carried out. There was a large attendance, in spite of the clouds and rain, and those who went to the garden saw flowers and plants that made it worth while. A lot of prizes will be awarded for roses and other flowers, also for strawberries, which are as interesting in their way as the roses, which nearly fill the space at the disposal of the society. The exhibition will continue until tomorrow evening. There was a formal meeting of the Horticultural society in the Museum building of the Bronx this afternoon, at which James Wood, the president, delivered an address on "Horticultural Prospects."

Terrible Blow to Brooklyn.

Brooklyn is afraid it will not be able to celebrate the Fourth of July with as much noise and saltpeter as it would like. This part of Greater New York has always been great on pyrotechnical display on Independence Day, and it has always been the fifth of July fashion among Brooklyn urchins to wear their hands and faces tied up in bandages, as a proof that they have enjoyed the glorious Fourth. This year the fire commissioners have raked up some musty old ordinances which prevent storekeepers selling fire works, save under regulations which they are unable to obey. It would be too long a story to tell what all these regulations are. Suffice it that more than 100 applicants for licenses to sell fire works were refused today, and that many more are sure of the same discomfort. The worst of it is that many small merchants have bought their supplies of crackers, pin wheels and rockets, but will not be able to offer them for sale. Unless some means of relieving this dilemma is hit on very soon, it will be a gloomy Fourth in Brooklyn for many people.

Dope Students in Gloom.

De Lacey's pool room in Park row, in the shadow of City hall, is closed tonight. This is the first time for years, some of the old rounders declare, and they are sore distressed in consequence. De Lacey's is not the only place near the City hall where one could "get down a bet" on the races without going to the track, but, as it has long been notorious, it is a mark for the new police captain of the precinct, Capt. O'Reilly, long known as the "terror" of Brooklyn, has started in to "clean things" in his precinct. The first illegal thing he tackled was De Lacey's, and he asserts that he cares nothing about a political pull, either. It has always been an open secret that gambling of all kinds fairly seethed in the neighborhood of municipal headquarters. As an old denizen remarked tonight: "You could find any gambling game you wanted to go against within half a dozen blocks of the postoffice, and the policeman on the beat could guide you to it if he wanted to." Now that Capt. O'Reilly has been placed in charge of the Oak street police station there is likely to be a quieter time around there than ever has been known. That is what the captain promises, and over in Brooklyn they say he keeps his word in such matters.

Doctors Trying New Cure.

James Mullen is the name of a man who broke his back at Coney Island a week ago, but who may recover, if the doctors are as successful as they hope. At one time it was supposed that fractured vertebrae meant death. But surgery has improved of late, and when a patient with a broken backbone, as in the present case, is brought to a hospital, the surgeons do not despair by any means. Mullen is undergoing the "extension process." It is said that it has never been tried before, so that if Mullen recovers his name will go down in surgical history as that of a most interesting personage. The patient lies on a board. About his neck and shoulder is twisted a sheet, which is securely fastened to the headboard of the cot. When the surgeons examined Mullen today they found a wonderful improvement, which had been entirely unlocked for. The extension of the patient's body had evidently lifted the smashed portions of the vertebrae from the spinal cord for some distance. The paralysis which affected him all over has left his arms, and the doctors think he has an excellent chance to partially recover.

Too Much for Fat Men.

On the word of Mr. Swanstrom, president of the borough of Brooklyn, portly men should not loop the loop. President Swanstrom went to Coney Island yesterday to see how matters were conducted there, and he decided that it would be little less than suicide on the part of a fat man to submit himself to the tangled access of the loop the loop. He said: "That thing won't do for fat men. It's all right for thin men, but it is liable to give a fat man heart disease. The only way to do is to keep apoplectic persons out, and the safest way to do that is to bar all fat men."

Columbia's New Record.

Columbia university held its one hundred and forty-eighth annual commencement exercises today. The unprecedented number of 843 degrees and diplomas—a number greater by 153 than obtained a year ago—was awarded. Five men not connected with the university received honorary degrees for distinguished service in the fields of science, philology, education and religion. At least 4,000 persons swarmed over the campus and went into the various buildings of the university, and the scene all day was gay and bright, in spite of the unpleasant weather in the latter part of the day. If the day had been sunshiny the chances are there would have been even a larger attendance, for if New York is proud of any public institution it is the seat of learning overlooking the Hudson on one side and Morningside park on the other.

Women and Women Only.

There will be a "woman's exhibition" in Madison Square garden for two weeks, beginning October 6. The Pittsburgh woman's band will play in the evenings and a woman's orchestra in the afternoons. The two halls of the garden will be used for the exhibition, in one lectures on subjects of interest to women and physical culture exhibitions, and in the other will be an art gallery of pictures painted by and of women. The galleries will be rented to tradesmen of Paris, London and New York to show goods for women. Three thousand women will be employed in the exhibition, and the doorkeepers, special police, ushers and even the carriage attendants will be women. GEORGE C. JENKS.

PERSONALS

"Well, I have attended a great many state conventions in my life and never did I witness such demonstrations and enthusiasm as at Harrisburg during the last three days," said Gen. John A. Wiley of Franklin, Pa., at the Seventh Avenue hotel last night. Gen. Wiley did not wait for the finish but left Harrisburg yesterday morning. He said it was getting too hot for him. "I tell you it made veteran politicians take to the woods," he said. "The town of Harrisburg since Monday beggared description. Everywhere were rooters, fried and true, doing all the shouting and cheering possible for their favorite candidate. In some instances there were lightning changes."

"Filtration in all large cities is nothing but a hoax and a graft for the politicians," said James McLaughlin, general manager of the Barr Pumping Engine Company of Philadelphia, who went to Chicago last night to attend the annual convention of the American Water Works association. "The only sure way to supply a large city with pure water is to find the water and then pump it from long distances. This alone is successful. The building of great and expensive filtration plants is only a waste of money and one from which the city does not recover for some time."

Baron E. Shibushawa, S. Umeura, U. Ichihara, T. Schimizu, C. Yasohnia and H. Hazimara, bankers and business men of Japan, yesterday arrived in Pittsburgh on their tour around the world, to study banking and industrial methods. The party is accompanied by George G. Beltzhoover, special passenger agent. They spent yesterday visiting industrial plants. Baron Shibushawa said the party had been greatly impressed with the industrial development of the United States. He said that in Japan great combinations of capital were considered a benefit when formed in a proper manner. The party left last night to visit eastern cities.

It was announced yesterday that W. S. Newell, a former employe of the Pennsylvania system and well known in Pittsburgh had been chosen chief engineer of the Wabash system to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. S. Lincoln. Mr. Newell for five years has been chief engineer of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, and hereafter the two positions will be under his management.

H. C. Frick and family will spend the summer at Prides, Mass., where Mr. Frick recently purchased a fine summer home. The horses and "Dusteloud," Mr. Frick's favorite automobile, have been shipped and the family will leave Pittsburgh today in a special car over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

O. E. Ruggles, son of O. W. Ruggles, general passenger agent of the Michigan Central railroad, has been appointed voucher clerk of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie passenger department. Mr. Ruggles was with the Michigan Central for three years.

Mr. Charles L. Close of Danler, Close & Johns left last night for an extensive business trip to the west. Mr. Close will spend some time in Chicago, from which place he expects to go to other important western cities. He will return home in the early part of July.

RURAL NEWS AND VIEWS.

J. E. Keffer of Ligonier township was plowing corn last week before it was up. It's a boy and Jake got a little muddled.—Ligonier Echo.

Prof. Silas Frampton while fishing for trout on Boone's mountain in Clearfield county the other day killed two large rattlesnakes.—Punxsutawney Republican.

The gardeners are about on a level now. Those who planted early and those who planted late are both in the soup, so to speak, and can start even on new crops. Jack Frost is a great leveler.—Indiana Messenger.

The potato acreage will not be as large as usual. The rot of last season and the imperfection and underselling of the foreign tubers discouraged potato growers. Potato growing has resolved itself to this: A heavy yield, low prices; a poor yield, importation and low prices follow.—Center Hall Reporter.

Persons who grow roses and are at a loss to know how to kill the little bugs that destroy the beautiful flowers, are hereby informed that a paris green solution, consisting of one teaspoonful to four gallons of water, carefully sprayed upon the rose bushes, will induce the pestiferous insects to turn up their toes in short order.—Greensburg Tribune.

While working under a tree on his farm last week Sylvanus Provance espied a huge blacksnake on an upper limb, climbing toward a bird's nest with the purpose of robbing it. Mr. Provance killed the reptile, which measured seven feet in length. His attention was attracted to it by the fluttering and screaming of the bird whose nest it was after.—Uniontown Genius.

The acreage of corn planted this year is greatly increased. It is said that in the corn belt this is particularly true, and outside of it a great many people have relied on the market for that grain have done likewise. Even up in New England, where corn growing outside of truck farms has been reduced to a low point, we hear of a revival. In general, people who paid last winter's prices are determined not to do it again, and those who have had no corn to sell have decided to have some this year. No doubt the crop of 1902 will be a great one if the season is favorable for cultivation and growth.—Chambersburg Public Opinion.

The first real snake story of the spring and summer season has become public. Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, at the Romigh home on the Wintersgill farm, Chippewa township, Mrs. Waxenfelter, who was walking along the roadway, discovered a monster blacksnake chasing a chicken. She called Mrs. L. H. Romigh to the front gate, who in turn summoned Jim Romigh, who was sitting on the porch. Mr. Romigh got his shotgun and dispatched the reptile, which measured eight feet in length, six inches in circumference, and was a monster in every respect.—New Brighton News.

We'd be awfully glad if Eddie the seventh would hurry up and get crowned. We're tired reading so much about it all and of the ceremonies and officials and robes and the host of senseless medieval rites and customs to be gone through. Really a man who has seen the elephant to the extent that Eddie has must certainly be bored to death by all the mummery of the coronation. If he were to get down to modern simplicity, he'd go to the barber's, take out his crown and scepter, get a hired girl to work on 'em with whiting, and, when she had them shining, put on the former and take up the latter, say: "Well, I'm it; drill, ye tarriers, drill!" Then he could go off and get into a little game of baccarat or, better yet, the American game of draw, and amuse himself.—Latrobe Advance.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Michael C. Spencer.

Michael C. Spencer, a resident of Sewickley for 31 years, and cashier of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company, died yesterday morning at 5 o'clock at his home in Maple lane, Sewickley. Mr. Spencer had been in ill health for some time from a complication of diseases. He was born in Steubenville, O., November 4, 1833, where, before entering the railroad business, he was engaged in the drug business. In 1864 he became connected with the Steubenville & Indiana Railroad Company, as clearik in the treasurer's office. He filled various clerkships until the company was merged with other lines into the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company, when he was transferred to the treasurer's office of the latter company. When the treasurer's office was removed to Columbus, Mr. Spencer moved to that city, where he filled one of the principal clerkships under Treasurer Charles Hallowell. Upon the resignation of the latter on July 1, 1871, he was appointed treasurer pro tem., and on March 5, 1872, was made permanent treasurer. He continued in this position for nearly one year, when, for the purpose of concentrating the responsibilities of the treasurer's office of the Pennsylvania Company and the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company, John E. Davidson was made treasurer and Mr. Spencer assistant treasurer of the latter company. When the reorganization was made by the treasury department of the Pennsylvania Lines West of Pittsburgh, and the position of cashier of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company was created, Mr. Spencer was appointed to the position, which he held until his death. He had also been treasurer of the Indianapolis & Vincennes Railroad Company from July, 1871, to December, 1878, inclusive, and treasurer of the Chicago, St. Louis & Pittsburgh Railroad Company from April 2, 1883, to October 1, 1890. Mr. Spencer was prominent in Masonic circles, and is survived by his widow and one son, Stewart Spencer, in the employ of the Carnegie Steel Company at Homestead. The funeral services will be held at his late home in Sewickley this evening, and the remains will be taken to Steubenville tomorrow for interment.

MISS ETHEL SIGSBEE

Daughter of Capt. Chas. D. Sigsbee, U. S. N., Who Became the Bride of Robert Toombs Small Last Night.

THE first wedding in St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church since it was rebuilt in Oakland took place last evening. The bride was Miss Elizabeth Knapp Metcalf, and the groom James Tod, of Edinburgh, Scotland. It was a large and brilliant church affair. The organ announced the arrival of the bridal party at 8 o'clock and the ushers and maids preceded the bride to the altar. The bride was given away by her father. Her attendants included her sister, Miss Ellen Mendelhall Metcalf, who was maid of honor, and six intimate friends, who acted as bridesmaids, Miss Elizabeth Bylesby, Miss Millie Slagle, Miss Suzanne Riddle, Miss Sarah Scott and Miss Charlotte Pendleton of this city, and Miss Jeannette Knapp of Sandusky, O. The bridegroom, with his best man, Andrew Melvin of Edinburgh, who accompanied him to this country, were at the chancel to await the coming of the bride. The ushers were Orlando P. Metcalf and Charles Metcalf, brothers of the bride; W. C. Doolittle, Charles Calvert Coster, Ellis Bylesby and T. B. Hasbrouk.

It was a green and white wedding. The chancel was lined with tall tropical plants and ferns and upon the altar were white lilies. The decorations of vines and smilax continued from the chancel to the door. The bride wore a beautiful wedding gown of heavy white duchess satin trimmed with point lace. Her veil of tulle was edged with lace, and her flowers were white bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her maids were also exquisitely gowned in white mousseline and lace over silk slips.

After the ceremony, performed by the Rev. E. H. Ward, D. D., rector of St. Peter's, a small reception for the immediate friends of the bride's family was held at the home of the Metcalfs, Fulton and Cliff streets, where supper was served. Later in the evening the bride and bridegroom left for a wedding trip. They will sail shortly for Scotland and will make their home in Edinburgh, where the bridegroom is practicing law. The bride, since her debut a few seasons ago, has been a popular girl in fashionable society in Pittsburgh and Allegheny. She is related to many of the most prominent families in Western Pennsylvania. She has traveled extensively, and it was while in Europe last year that she met Mr. Tod, their acquaintance and friendship being followed at Christmas time by the announcement of their engagement, when Mr. Tod made a short visit to Pittsburgh.

The bride was preceded by little Miss Margaret Ruth Himes as flower girl.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. M. H. Wilson, the groom's mother; Master Joseph Wilson and Miss Agnes Wilson, all of Indiana; Samuel L. Himes, brother of the bride, Samuel J. Sutton and Samuel W. Gardner, of Pittsburgh. After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Wood will make their residence in Pittsburgh.

Anderson—Bryden.

John K. Bryden of Pittsburgh, and Miss Margaret Anderson, daughter of Mrs. B. W. Bredin, were married at noon yesterday in St. John's Episcopal church, Franklin, Pa. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Martin Aigner, in the presence of a large number of friends. At the home of the bride's mother a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Bryden departed later on a honeymoon trip, and returning will reside in the East End, Pittsburgh.

Himes—Wood.

A very pretty home wedding took place yesterday in Clarion, Pa., when Miss Daisy Faith Himes, daughter of L. L. Himes, superintendent of the Clarion county public schools, was united in marriage to Frank Albert Wood of Pittsburgh. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. B. Robinson, pastor of the Clarion Presbyterian church, in the presence of the families of the bride and groom, and a few intimate friends. The bride's home suggested the pretty and artistic decorations and in the parlor, where the ceremony took place, were daisies and ferns. The bride was gowned in white mousseline, daintily trimmed with lace, and carried a shower bouquet of daisies. The maids of honor, Miss Grace Robinson of Clarion, who wore white mousseline with yellow ribbons, and Miss Zoe Himes, sister of the bride, who wore white Persian lawn with green ribbons, carried bouquets of daisies. Stacy H. Smith of Indiana was usher.

Riddle—Lang.

A handsome home wedding took place last evening in Allegheny, the bride being Miss Elizabeth Riddle, second daughter of George Dewhurst Riddle, and the bridegroom Walter Stewart Lang of Bellevue. The marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride in North avenue, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. T. P. Leak, D. D. pastor of the Oakland Methodist Episcopal church. The wedding took place in the drawing room, where the bride's father and mother were married. Miss Ariana Riddle, her sister, was the maid of honor, and the only other attendant was the little flower girl, Miss Katherine Black, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David P. Black, and a cousin of the bridegroom. Lieut. Charles L. Lang, U. S. N., now attached to the battleship Massachusetts, a brother of the bridegroom, was the best man, and the ushers were Walter D. Riddle, a brother of the bride; Samuel Laird Lang, another brother of the bridegroom; Thomas Carlisle Moore and Talbut C. Graham.

The house was decorated with fragrant flowers. Mantels were banked with ferns and in the parlors the flowers were Kaiserine roses. Pink and white roses formed dainty shades for the lights, similar shades appearing over the lights throughout the house. The bride's table was placed in the library, where the decorations were entirely in green and white. The dining room decorations were pink roses and ferns.

The wedding gown worn by the bride was of white duchess satin, trimmed with duchesse and pointe lace. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore white mull trimmed with insertions of valenciennes lace, and her short veil of tulle was held in place, as was the bride's, by ostrich tips. The little flower girl wore a dainty frock of white muslin and carried a basket of roses.

Sigsbee—Small.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—The marriage of Miss Ethel Sigsbee, daughter of Capt. Charles Dwight Sigsbee, U. S. N., and Robert Toombs Small, tonight at the New church, corner of Sixteenth and Corcoran streets, was of special interest to naval circles, where the family of the commander of the Maine is so well known, as well as to the members of the journalistic profession, to which Mr. Small belongs. Yellow and blue, the naval colors, were carried out in the handsome floral decorations of the church. The ushers, Eugene B. Wilkins, Allan Albert, Mr. Griggs and Mr. Lyon, were professional associates of the groom.

The bridal procession included Miss Anna Louise Kittelle, daughter of Capt. S. E. W. Kittelle and Mrs. Kittelle, the latter a sister of the bride, who was flower girl, wearing a pretty white frock of organdie, with pale blue sash ribbons; the maid of honor, Miss Julia Wood, and two bridesmaids, Miss Myra Davis and Miss Agnes Mechesney, who wore gowns of pale yellow silk gauze, those of the bridesmaids having touches of pale blue trimmings. All carried French Marguerites. The bridal gown was white silk gauze over liberty satin, embroidered in Constantinople and brought to this country by Capt. Sigsbee. No jewels were worn by the bride, who is a lovely blonde. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley. Mr. Small was attended by his brother, Samuel White Small, as best man. The Rev. S. Ewall, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. A reception to about 75 relatives was given at the home of Captain and Mrs. Sigsbee, No. 1803 Nineteenth street. Mr. Small is a native of Atlanta, Ga., and on the staff of one of the daily papers of this city.

Trimble—Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Trimble of Garfield avenue, Allegheny, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Louise Trimble, and Sidney S. Smith, which took place last Tuesday evening. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. J. Fuehl, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church. There were no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home to their friends on Thursdays after July 10, at their new home, No. 313 Jackson street, Allegheny.

Edmundson—Risher.

Wednesday morning, at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. E. A. Edmundson, Ridge avenue, Crafton, was solemnized the marriage of Miss Elizabeth A. Edmundson and William C. Risher. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George R. Edmundson, an uncle of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Risher have gone east on their wedding trip. On their return they will be at home in Ridge avenue, Crafton.

A BEN VENUE TRANSFER

Pennsylvania Railroad Co. After More Property—Brownstone Residence to Be Erected in Sheridan Street—Deals in Various Places.

Through the Pittsburgh Real Estate Exchange a tract of 12 acres in the heart of Emsworth has been sold for $35,000. It formerly belonged to the John Clark estate and was purchased by a syndicate of Pittsburgh real estate men. The property is one of the finest in the Sewickley valley, having a frontage of about 1,300 feet on the west side of Beaver avenue and extending back a distance of 900 feet to the river. Clifton station is located on one end of the plot. In the old orchard, which covers most of the property, is a 12-room frame residence. The purchasers whose names are withheld pending the delivery of the deeds are Pittsburgh real estate men who lay out 60 lots at once and place them on the market about July 15. The lots will be 50x120 feet each and streets will be opened through the property before any sales are made. The plan has been christened "Riverview," and it is the intention of the owners to build at least 15 high-class residences as soon as the survey is completed. These will be colonial and center hall brick dwellings, containing 10 rooms each and none of them will cost less than $5,000.

East End Properties Change Hands.

The Keystone Realty Company has concluded the sale of two East End properties for about $23,000. Through their agency William N. Smith sold to John Cornell the property at No. 5840 Center avenue for $11,000. The lot measures 35x160 feet in the west side of the avenue, near College avenue, and extends back to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. The improvements consist of a two-story and attic brick house. The purchase was made for investment, but it is rumored that it was in the interest of the Pennsylvania railroad company. The other sale was of a plot in the Twentieth ward back of Ben Venue station, which was conveyered from D. R. Evans to an East End business man. The consideration was withheld, but the property is valued at about $12,000. It is in three parcels, one facing 229 feet in the north side of the Pennsylvania railroad, and 40 feet in Gross street, and the other two parcels, 60x100 feet and 158x140 feet, in the east side of Gross street. The property is vacant except for a small office building, and lies between the plant of the Pittsburgh Reduction Company and the building of the Consolidated Traction Company.

Big Falling Off in May.

Many building operations, according to the report of Superintendent J. A. A. Brown, issued yesterday, make rather a sorry showing compared with the corresponding month in 1901. A total of 469 permits was granted calling for an expenditure of $1,804,061. Permits for new buildings numbered 248, calling for $1,735,444; for additions 90, amounting to $37,915; and for alterations and repairs 131, amounting to $43,902. Only one large permit was granted, that for the Philadelphia Company building in Sixth avenue. The decrease compared with May, 1901, was 158 permits, amounting to $2,757,441, showing that only about one-third the building was projected as last year. This, however, is accounted for mainly by the fact that the permit for the Frick building was taken out in May last year. Compared with April of this year May shows a gain of two permits amounting to $699,365. The report is significant as showing that in spite of the absence of large building projects there is a large amount of houses building, especially among the laboring classes, indicating a prosperous condition of affairs. During May there were 39 violations of the building ordinances reported, one dangerous building inspected and 54 fires visited.

Wabash Goes Into Courts Again.

The Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad has started condemnation proceedings against the property of Thomas Gamble, at the northeast corner of Fourth avenue and Ferry street. The lot measures 60x60.2 feet and is improved with a two-story brick building. It is valued at about $60,000, or $1,000 a foot for the Fourth avenue frontage. A few weeks ago the Wabash instituted similar proceedings against the Fink property, on the opposite corner, which is valued at $35,000. These are still pending in the courts.

Last week the Pennsylvania Railroad Company sent out notices to 15 business men and property owners along its line near Fifth avenue, stating that it is the intention to acquire their property as soon as possible. The survey of the right of way in this neighborhood is already completed and it is said the Pennsylvania means to secure a considerable amount of improved property nearly. The notices were for the purpose of giving the tenants time to get siding facilities elsewhere, and several deals are now pending for properties in the Center avenue district, between South Highland and South Negley avenues.

Sales in East Pittsburgh.

H. G. Gallinger has made the following sales in his Crestas plan, at East Pittsburgh: to Isaac Kline of Rankin, two lots, $300; to G. Colette, one lot, $250; to Dr. W. S. Plotier of Turtle Creek, one lot, $200; to Mrs. P. Doyle of McKees Rocks, one lot, $250; to A. Rea, one lot, $250; to W. N. Carnahan, one lot, $200; to Richard M. Watty, one lot, $250; to Eugene Carlo, one lot, $250; to Anna McCormick, one lot, $250; to Garret Mahoney, one lot, $200; to M. Elia, one lot $225; to Frank D. Change, one lot $225; to F. Dekmo, one lot $250; to Louis Vinck, one lot, $250; to Robert Heels, one lot, $250; to Warren Alcott, one lot, $225; to J. A. Berthold, one lot, $200; to Frank Shylden, one lot, $200. The lots are 25x110 feet each, and face in Crestas, Talcott, Border and Milligan avenues. A number of frame houses are now going up on the plan and Mr. Gallinger is arranging to start 50 workmen on these soon. They will be five-room frame dwellings, costing about $1,500 each, and will be completed for the fall market.

Another brownstone residence, to cost about $30,000, is to be built in Sheridan avenue, Nineteenth ward, on a plot purchased yesterday from James J. Booth for $7,500. The owner will be Charles M. Robinson, who is building for a home. The site bought has a frontage of about 85 feet and a depth of 120 feet. It adjoins the A. R. Peacock holdings and overlooks the entire East Liberty valley. This is about the last of the Sheridan avenue frontage remaining in the Booth Place plan, although there is considerable property on the other streets yet unsold. The deal to Mr. Robinson was effected by Attorney James Francis Burke, who built a large brownstone dwelling in the same plan recently.

The Moorhead sub-district school has purchased from George N. Monro, a plot, 175x137 feet, at the northeast corner of Granville and Enoch streets, Eleventh ward, for $14,000. The lot has erected thereon a two-story frame house which will be torn down to make room for the proposed new school building.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwab Give $60,000 for College Chapel; McKeesport Boy Expelled from Mt. Union College

SCHWAB MAKES COLLEGE GIFT

Steel Corporation President and Wife Offer $60,000 for Chapel.

GIVES ADVICE TO STUDENTS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STATE COLLEGE, PA., June 11.—Charles M. Schwab of Pittsburgh addressed the graduating class at the Pennsylvania State college today, and at the close of his remarks President Atherton announced that Mr. and Mrs. Schwab would build a college chapel to cost $60,000. If the cost exceeds $60,000 Mr. Schwab said they would contribute all the money necessary to complete the chapel. The announcement was a complete surprise to the college authorities and was thoroughly appreciated by the faculty.

This was class day at the college and so great was the crowd that admission had to be made by ticket. The class occupied the platform with President George W. Atherton, Mr. Schwab, Gen. James A. Beaver and other guests.

The class orators were Herman H. Hanson, Harry L. Jones, Daniel W. Strayer, Jones E. Wagner and Paul E. Smith, valedictorian. The commencement address was delivered by Mr. Schwab, which is in part as follows:

The college man must start at the bottom. One reason why practical men are at the head of organizations is because the college man depends too much on his diploma. The college man who will not start at the bottom will be outstripped by those he finds fault with. Success nowadays means appreciation of art, music, painting and money getting also. The old standard of education has passed away.

Now, I desire to give these young men some advice. It is the easiest thing in the world to give. The worst thing you can do is to start in life with influence. Nothing will do you so much injury. Never ask your friends to help you get a position, for if you accomplish anything they will receive all the credit. Be energetic, make mistakes if you must, but keep working. People will respect you for it. Act and act first. Be interested in your work. Be assured that success does not work by chance. You never saw a man but of whose record you could not pick the incident that made him successful. Be original; do not follow the beaten path. You will thereby attract attention and win promotion.

In conclusion I wish to say that the business of the country must be continued under organization. Trusts cannot be stopped. One thing that stands in the way of their success is competent men to manage them. Here is a chance for trained young men. Ability is now sought everywhere. Capitalists bemoan the lack of it. Do not be discouraged, but stick to your work, for you have better equipment as graduates of State college than most men. Be honest, don't find fault, work where you are placed, be thorough, be original.

At the conclusion of Mr. Schwab's address President Atherton announced that Mr. Schwab had made a gift of $60,000 to the college for a new chapel; that James G. White of New York had given the income of $20,000 to be divided among four college fellowships for poor young men, and that the college faculty had completed arrangements whereby the $100,000 gift of Andrew Carnegie for a college library had been accepted.

Mr. Schwab offered Daniel W. Strayer of York $1,000 to take a post graduate course next year in the analysis of nickel. The offer was accepted.

When seen this evening in regard to his gift to the college and method of giving charity, Mr. Schwab stated that his only method was to give where he thought most good could be done. That he felt unusual interest in helping poor and deserving young men to secure an education and made his gifts accordingly. As to the gift to State college, Mr. Schwab stated that he had always felt a great interest in the success of the institution, and seeing the need for more chapel room, decided to make the donation in the name of himself and Mrs. Schwab.

EXPELLED FOR COLLEGE PRANK

McKeesport Boy Is Obliged to Leave School at Mt. Union.

A MOCK GRAVE WAS MADE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALLIANCE, O., June 11.—As a result of the recent investigation by the faculty of Mr. Union college, one student has been expelled and several others may receive similar punishment. The faculty has been endeavoring to discover the students who recently made a mock grave on the campus and placed on it a headstone bearing the name of Phillip Pelley, an aged minister who died some time ago and whose money was left with President A. B. Riker. A son of the deceased claims the money, and has asked for an administrator. The headstone had an inscription which reflected on the honesty of the college president.

While interviewing one of the students, S. W. Douglas of McKeesport, Pa., the faculty learned that Douglas had planned a joke to be played in chapel exercises, whereby the pianist would be unable to play the piano. For this proposed joke, Douglas was informed that the best plan would be for him to leave the city at once.

Other pranks have been perpetrated at the college, but the faculty is endeavoring to keep the matter secret. A dozen or more rifles owned by the college and used when the military department was in vogue, are said to have been taken away by students.

BIG GOSPEL TENT IS SECURED FOR PARK SERVICES

Gospel to Be Preached in Every Park Hereabouts Next Sunday.

MUSIC WILL BE A FEATURE

The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, Who Is Promoting the Schenley Park Series, Proposes to Make Their Inauguration Something Notable.

Next Sunday evening will mark the beginning of this season's series of Sunday evening services at Schenley park. Three years ago these religious services in the park were strenuously opposed by the pastors of several of Pittsburgh's churches, but now the plan is liberally supported by leading ministers of all denominations.

The meetings this year will be held on a far larger scale than ever hitherto, and a number of new parks will be invaded. On Sunday, July 13, services will be held in every park in Western Pennsylvania, including Allegheny, Schenley, Highland, Oakwood, Calhoun, Kennywood and Southern, and among the ministers preaching will be the Rev. John H. Prugh of Grace Reformed church, Pittsburgh; the Rev. E. L. Eaton, D. D., North Avenue Methodist church, Allegheny; the Rev. W. A. Stanton, D. D., Shady Avenue Baptist church; the Rev. Edwin S. Wallace, pastor Presbyterian church, Greensburg; the Rev. W. S. Brown, D. D., Presbyterian church, Canonsburg, Pa.; the Rev. E. H. Ward, D. D., rector St. Peter's Episcopal church, Pittsburgh; the Rev. Father E. A. Bush, D. D., rector St. Peter's Catholic church, Allegheny, and vicar general of the diocese of Pittsburgh, and Rabbi J. Leonard Levy of the Rodef Shalom Hebrew congregation, Eighth street, Pittsburgh.

New Tent Secured.

An immense new tent, seating 1,000 people and manufactured especially for these meetings, will be pitched in Schenley park next Saturday, in order that the services may be held each Sunday evening in spite of stormy weather. This tent is entirely rain proof and is to be so pitched that the ground floor will be perfectly dry at all times. It will be near the band stand at Schenley park and services will be always held, if the weather is not too cold or rainy.

At the opening service Sunday evening the Park sisters, cornetists, will be the leading musical attraction, and Benjamin Frank Butts will have a chorus of 80 or 90 voices.

All the park services are arranged by the Rev. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, who at the invitation of the late Senator C. L. Magee preached the first sermon in Schenley park three years ago this July. The Rev. Mr. Young paid from his own pocket all the expenses of the meetings three years ago. Senator Magee paid all the expenses two years ago, and last summer the expenses were raised by general subscription, as they are this summer also.

After Famous Musical Organizations.

The officials of Pittsburgh and the Pittsburgh Railways Company have given the ministers the largest leeway possible, though it was first reported that they were hostile to holding meetings this summer. Every one who attends the meetings this season will have a slip of popular songs placed in his hands, and many of the best bands and other musical organizations have been engaged, including Phinney's United States band of Chicago, Ohio State band, Homestead Library band and Rocereto's band, all of which will play religious music only.

The late President McKinley's hymns, "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Lead, Kindly Light" will be played at least once in every park. Mr. Young is negotiating with the United States Marine band of Washington, the Carlisle Indian band, Bandi Rossi and other world-famous organizations.

The plan is to make the religious meetings fully as popular as the "ragtime" and spectacular performances, and to make the Sundays of the hot weather a godsend to the multitude who seek the city's breathing spots, and to turn what has been a serious detraction from religious work into a real promotion of religious work.

TWO BOYS LYNCHED.

North Carolina Mob Hangs Two Negro Lads Who Admitted Guilt of Murder.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 11.—Two negro boys, Harrison and James Gillespie, aged 16 and 14, who were under arrest charged with killing Miss Cornelia Benson, on a farm in Rowan county, Monday last, were taken from jail at Salisbury, N. C., early this morning and hanged to a tree in the railroad yards. Their bodies were then riddled with bullets.

About 50 men composed the mob and all wore masks. The militia was called out by the governor about midnight, but as everything appeared quiet they were disbanded. Then the mob suddenly appeared and battered down the jail door. The negroes were in the attic of the jail, but the mob readily found them and drove rapidly out of town. After lynching the negroes the mob dispersed. The negroes admitted that they beat the young woman's brains out with rocks, because she tried to make them leave her premises.

Deal About Closed to Buy Fourth and Fifth National Banks.

CAPITAL TO BE $1,500,000

First National Is Now Reported to Be Arranging for the Purchase of the Pittsburgh National Bank of Commerce.

It is planned to increase the stock of the Fort Pitt National bank from $200,000 to $1,500,000. A large portion of this new issue is to be used in taking over the Fourth and Fifth National banks, it being planned by the deal to make the Fort Pitt one of the leading national banking houses in Pittsburgh. Other interests have been mentioned in connection with the merger, but the Fourth and Fifth National banks are now the only ones in relation to which the negotiations have progressed to a point which makes their merger only a question of determining on the terms.

The property of the Fifth National bank at No. 126 Sixth street was sold recently, the owners closing the sale with the understanding that the deal for the merger with the Fort Pitt would go through. The capital of the Fifth National bank is $100,000 and its surplus $25,000. Dividends at the rate of 3 per cent have been paid, and recent sales of stock have been at $158 for the $100 share.

Prominent Men Interested.

J. B. Finley, president of the Monongahela Consolidated Coal and Coke Company, is president of the bank and the other directors are A. C. Knox, F. L. Stephenson, George I. Whitney, Biddle Arthurs and Ralph Baggaley.

The location of the property has been a handicap to this bank and the merger with the Fort Pitt will give it the more advantageous quarters at No. 235 Fourth avenue.

The Fort Pitt National bank has a stock issue of $200,000 and its surplus is $100,000. It has been paying 3 per cent dividends semi-annually. D. Lect Wilson, president of the Central District & Printing Telegraph Company, is president of the Fort Pitt bank and associated with him on the directorate are James M. Bailey, Samuel Ewart, John B. Dunlevy, D. Herbert Hostetter, Robert T. Wilson, George A. Macbeth, D. H. Wallace and W. G. McCullough.

James M. Bailey, one of the heaviest owners in the Fort Pitt bank, is president of the Fourth National bank, located almost opposite the Fort Pitt in Fourth avenue. The Fourth National has a stock issue of $300,000, with a surplus of $75,000. Its last rate of dividend was 3 per cent. Besides Mr. Bailey the directors are Jacob Porter, Stephen C. McCandless, John D. Nicholson, John C. Robinson, Rawdon Evans and George H. Fulton. The Fourth National bank was organized in 1864, the Fifth National in 1873 and the Fort Pitt in 1879.

Rumors About Another Bank.

There are persistent reports that the First National bank, in addition to taking over the Mechanics National bank, is to absorb the Pittsburgh National Bank of Commerce. Officials and directors refused last night to discuss this, but it was intimated that the deal had not gone beyond preliminary negotiations and that no basis had been arrived at. The Pittsburgh National Bank of Commerce, which occupies the first floor of its own building, Wood street and Sixth avenue, has a capital stock issue of $500,000, with surplus of $1,000,000. Charles Lockhart is president, A. W. Mellon and Henry C. Frick, controlling the Union Trust Company, are directors. A few days ago it was rumored that the bank was to be absorbed by the trust company, but those interested denied this, saying that there had only been some negotiations, which had fallen through.

CHANCE FOR THE ARTISTS.

Appropriate Design Wanted for the Fourth Celebration Souvenir,—With Roosevelt in It.

About 375 firms and individuals have contributed to the Fourth of July fund $17,515 04. This is considered by the committee as very satisfactory, but still more money is needed. Chairman W. A. Carr said yesterday:

"It will require several thousand dollars more to enable the committees to carry their plans into effect, but the people are coming to the front handsomely and we feel assured that the required amount will be on hand in a few days.

"The coming of President Roosevelt makes the event one of national interest and importance. It is therefore not surprising that so many people have contributed and are contributing daily to the fund."

Secretary William J. Diehl of the executive committee, yesterday sent to various printing companies for bids for printing the souvenir program. He suggests that artists send in designs for a title page and cover for the souvenir. "Here is a chance to get up something unique, and we will be glad to have pointers from our friends," said Mr. Diehl. "We want something appropriate to the visit of the president as well as to the Fourth."

The contributions yesterday were as follows:

Sheinberg & Welsberg	$ 3 00
Duncan & King	5 00
John Graham	10 00
Charles W. Houston	5 00

INDEMNITY REDUCED.

Ministers of Powers in China Accept Proposals Made by the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—A cablegram received today by Secretary Hay from United States Minister Conger at Pekin confirms the reported acceptance by the resident foreign ministers there of the general proposition of the United States government for a pro rata scaling down of the claims of the various nations for indemnity on account of the Boxer uprising.

It is understood, however, that England and Japan do not share in the reduction, for their accounts clearly establish the fact that their legitimate and actual expenses were even more than their indemnity claims.

Recommends Reappointment.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—(Special.)—Representative Graham has recommended the reappointment of the following postmasters: Capt. A. S. Warner at Tarentum; James E. Marus at Springdale.

MISS AMANDA MOORE

Dyspepsia Is Catarrh of the Stomach.

Many Women Have Catarrh of the Stomach and Do Not Know It.

Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

Miss Moore Suffered for Years With Catarrhal Dyspepsia—Ordinary Remedies Failed to Cure — Pe-ru-na Made Her Well and Strong.

Miss Amanda Moore, Marshall, Tex., writes:

"I have suffered for several years past with acute dyspepsia, and, trying several remedies without any help, decided that it was my fate to suffer through this life. Last winter I took Peruna for a severe catarrh, the effects of a cold, and you can imagine my joy when I found that this wonderful remedy not only cured my catarrh, but helped my dyspepsia.

"I took three bottles and found myself well and strong. I can now eat heartily and have gained twelve pounds and have good reason to praise Peruna."—Miss Amanda Moore.

For the most acute cases of dyspepsia and the most chronic and stubborn cases of catarrh of the stomach Peruna is an unfailing cure.

Mr. E. E. Gaston of Milton, Iowa, in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, says:

"My wife has been sick with stomach trouble for almost three years.

"During that time we doctored with three of the best doctors in this part of the country, but they did her no good. She fell off in flesh from 134 pounds to 80 pounds, and was unable to do anything; in fact, was confined to her bed a good part of the time. Everything she ate she would throw up, even water. The last doctor we had examined her and said she had cancer of the stomach, and said he could do her no good except to give her something to relieve the pain, and that he would not advise us to have an operation performed. This coming from one whom I have always had great confidence in, you cannot imagine my feelings and thoughts.

"It was then we decided to quit doctoring and try Peruna, and from the beginning it helped her. She is now able to do all the housework. She is gaining in flesh and I think will soon be back to her former weight.

"To make a long story short, we owe her life to Peruna, for I am satisfied had we not tried it she would now be in the grave."

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be glad to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

WALKER'S SOAP

Is not the lowest priced, yet it is the cheapest.

It is made from Cocoanut Oil and Edible Tallow, and these are so sweet and clean that they are fit for food.

Low priced soap is low priced because it is made from vile greases gathered from garbage or from animals that have died of disease.

These greases are combined with strong alkali, and adulterated with marble dust, starch and silicate of soda.

It is false economy to rot and destroy your clothes by using vile soap that you would not touch if you saw what was in it.

Walker's Soap is a clean, sanitary soap. Be sure you get the soap with the Game Rooster on the wrapper.

League Games Today.

Pittsburg at Brooklyn.
Cincinnati at Philadelphia.
Chicago at Boston.
St. Louis at New York.

Local baseball circles were wildly stirred yesterday by a seemingly well-founded report that two members of the Pittsburgh team had jumped to the St. Louis team of the American league. This report had its origin from the ticker service, so it is alleged, and was considered reliable enough for one newspaper to post a bulletin of the report on its window.

The report spread throughout the city, and the baseball fans were greatly agitated. At first it was said that the players in question were Jesse Tannehill and Honus Wagner, and later in the afternoon it was asserted the players were Tannehitt and Davis. It was learned later than the reported originated in St. Louis and was given out as a fact, and thus found its way over the ticker wire to this city. The sporting editor of The Gazette, on learning of the report, at once telegraphed Secretary Pulliam, who is with the team at the St. George hotel in Brooklyn, and his answer, which follows, should set the troubled minds of the fans at rest:

BROOKLYN N. Y., June 11.—Gazette, Pittsburgh: Rumor too silly for denial. Just at present the players are jumping over the dinner menu from soup to nuts.

HARRY C. PULLIAM.

Rain Stopped the Game.

The Pirates and Brooklyn teams did not get a chance to meet yesterday, owing to a downpour of rain. A special from Brooklyn says:

After threatening weather up to 3 o'clock today a steady downpour started in, preventing the second game of Washington park, Brooklyn, between the champions and the Hanlonites. Fully 1,000 spectators had gathered outside the gates willing to take a chance that there would be a game. They were no more disappointed than the Pirates, who felt very sore over their defeat of yesterday and their defeat on Monday by the New Yorks, both by a single run.

Some of the players among the champions felt as though they got the worst of it yesterday at the hands of umpire O'Day on close decisions. They are not alone in this respect, for the Brooklyns suffered to some extent also. Dolan of the Brooklyns kicked so strenuously on a decision by O'Day that he was benched.

Pirates Having Tough Luck.

Capt. Clarke, in speaking today about the two remaining games to be played against Brooklyn, said: "I feel sure of taking the remaining games from Brooklyn and landing once more in the .800 per cent column, where we will come pretty near staying the balance of the season. With an even break we would have landed the last two games played. We failed to get the necessary hit at the proper time and that tells the story of our defeats. None of the pitchers were hit hard in either game, but our opponents seemed to bunch their few hits in one or two innings, which netted them the necessary runs to win.

"Doheny yesterday let Brooklyn down with five hits and should have won his game but for a couple of inexcusable errors on the part of the infield. I will put either Chesbro or Phillippe in the box tomorrow against the Brooklyns, as they have both been successful against the Hanlonites heretofore. All of our pitchers are in fair condition. Smith played a beautiful game yesterday and is hitting the ball as hard as any man on the team just at present."

Second Baseman Smith of the New Yorks has been appointed manager of the team in place of Horace Fogel, who has been retained as agent of the club.

WAGNER AND O'CONNOR.

This Is the Pair of Pirates the St. Louis Club Is Alleged to Have Secured.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 11.—(Special.)—Hans Wagner and Jack O'Conner of the Pittsburgh National league team possibly will wear the uniform of the St. Louis Browns before the end of the month. Secretary Hedges denies that they have been signed, but he smiles when he says it, and absolutely refuses to talk further. Indications here are that the two Pirates will leave their present booths immediately after the next pay day.

President Ban Johnson said several days ago that he intended playing a trump card which would shock the National league magnates. He was in St. Louis Sunday, but asserted his visit was not of a nature to interest the public. It is not stated that he came here to notify Mr. Hedges and Mr. McAleer of the proposed changes. The blame for the new move is laid on Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh, who, it has been strongly rumored, has made strenuous attempts to persuade young Bill Maloney to sign with the Pirates for next year. Hedges and McAleer are anxious to win the championship in the league and then play the Pirates a post-season series. When Wagner comes Wallace will go to third.

OLD SOLDIERS' RACE.

Gilbert Barnes Proposes to Run Five Miles Against Any Five Veterans at Schenley on July 4.

Old Soldier Barnes, the famous long-distance runner, who makes Pittsburgh his home, is still full of endurance and hankers for a chance to show his mettle when it comes to Fourth of July celebrations for the people. In the program of sports in honor of the nation's birthday it seems reasonable, to say the least, that the old soldiers who fought for the flag should be given a chance, and the following letter from the old soldier is self-explanatory:

To Sporting Editor of Gazette—Dear Sir: The old soldiers are passing rapidly away, but Old Soldier Barnes desires one more opportunity to test his endurance, and in compliance with the urging of my friends I hereby challenge any five ex-soldiers of the United States army to a five-mile race at Schenley park as an event on the people's program of amusements on July 4, each of my opponents to run one mile while I run the five, and myself to give a start of ten yards; four of my opponents to be veterans of the civil war and one of the Spanish war, the only requirement being the presentation of an honorable discharge. As a condition of the race I propose that the advance man in the race carry the American flag until overtaken. Awaiting the reply of the amusement committee, I remain, respectfully, Gilbert Barnes, Post 157, G. A. R., No. 436 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh.

Detroit, Mich., June 11.—Frank Dillon won this afternoon's game for Detroit. With three on bases in the first inning he drove the ball to the center field fence for a three-base hit. In the third he scored Elberfeld with a single to left field. The fielding of the whole Detroit team was splendid, Dillon and Casey making especially fine stops. Score:

CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Lajoie and Bernhard Summoned to Answer That Charge.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—Judge Ralston in common pleas court today granted a rule against Second Baseman Lajoie and Pitcher Bernhard of the Cleveland American league baseball club, to show cause why an attachment for contempt of court should not be made against them. The rule is made returnable in this city on Monday next.

The order of the court was made on petition of John I. Rogers of the Philadelphia National league club, who stated that the players had disobeyed an order of the court restraining them from playing with a baseball club other than the Philadelphia National league organization.

Clever Shooting at Braddock.

The Braddock Gun club yesterday afternoon held its monthly shoot at its grounds near the foot of Sixth street, Braddock. Some good records were made. Thomas O'Brien and Slater, in the first match, broke 24 and 20 birds, respectively, out of a possible 25, and in the second match O'Brien broke 21 and Slater 22. The Braddock Gun club has about 40 members. The number yesterday participating was smaller than in almost a year.

THE RIVAL RECORD BREAKERS TO MEET

LOCAL TRACK WILL WITNESS ONE OF SEASON'S GREATEST RACES.

Albert Champion and Howard Freeman Have Each Created Two World's Records—Champion Lowered Freeman's 10-Mile Mark by a Fraction of Second.

Albert Champion, the holder of the world's 10 and 25-mile motor-paced records, will arrive in the city today and do his first training on the track which, as it has been universally voted the fastest six-lap one in the world, should enable him to establish new marks. Local followers of the racing game will be treated on Saturday to a contest between the two stars who appear by all recent riding to be the two fastest short distance pace followers in the United States.

Less than 10 days ago on the Baltimore track Howard Freeman made a new record for 10 miles in 14:47 2-5 and followed it on Saturday night last with a new record of 7:11 2-5 for five miles, under his former record, when the rain came up in the eighth mile, spoiling the promise of a new 10-mile mark.

Now, fresh upon the announcement of the securing of Albert Champion comes the breaking of Freeman's 10-mile record by Champion. The latter rode in 14:47 Tuesday night at Baltimore. Champion also on last Saturday night won a four-cornered race in Boston against McFarland, Waithour and Elkes. The race on Saturday night between Champion and Freeman, who have been chasing each other so closely for the records, should by long odds be the best offered here since the opening of the Colosseum track, and new records are looked for.

For the two amateur events half-mile consolation and two-thirds mile open, the entries will close tonight at 6 o'clock.

HARVARD WAS SHUT OUT.

Princeton Played the Best Ball and Scored a Very Clever Victory.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 11.—In a seven-inning game that was a pitchers' battle up to the last inning, the Harvard baseball team was shut out by Princeton's nine. Princeton won on her superior all-round work. Her batting was much better than that of Harvard, in fielding Princeton played an errorless game and ran the bases well. Harvard had three errors, each of which cost a run. About 7,000 persons witnessed the game, among whom was ex-President Cleveland. Score by innings:

Princeton	1	2	0	0	0	0	0	4	—7

STATE'S FOOTBALL SCHEDULE.

Will Meet W. U. P. Eleven at Home in October.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., June 11.—(Special.)—Before departing for his home in West Chester James M. Nelson, manager of the football team of 1903, gave out the schedule for next fall. The only important changes are that Princeton has been dropped and Washington and Jefferson reinstated in the schedule. The game with the U. of P. will also be played much earlier in the season than has been the custom. The sschedule follows: September 20, Dickinson, at State College; September 27, Western University, at State College; October 4, University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia; October 11, Villa Nova, at State College; October 18, Yale, at New Haven; October 25, Ssuquehanna, at State College; November 1, Annapolis, at Annapolis; November 8, Pittsburg, at State College; November 15, W. and J. (place to be selected later); November 22, Dickinson, at Carlisle; November 27, University of Buffalo, at Buffalo.

PITCHER ON A STRIKE.

Alex Jones Claims Homestead Team Does Not Support Him.

Alex Jones, who has been considered a star pitcher and was offered a place with St. Louis this year, went on a strike yesterday and notified Manager H. R. Risher of the H. L. A. C. that he would play no more with the team unless the team is strengthened. Jones claims that he is unable to win games because the team does not support him. On the other hand, in his games with the Cuban Giants, Manager Risher maintains that the trouble was altogether in the pitching department Friday, the Giants making 12 hits, one a home run, two three-base hits and three two-base hits, while Tuesday's record was little better.

Cuban Giants Win Again.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., June 11.—(Special.)—The locals were shut out today by the Cuban X Giants. The grounds were almost submerged with water, giving the visitors a poor chance to show their ability. The score:

Cuban X Giants	0	0	2	0	0	2	1	1	2	—8
E. Liverpool	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

School Teams Meet on Friday.

The rain yesterday made a postponement of the Pittsburgh-Allegheny High school game necessary. It will be played off Friday if all parties can agree. Today High school will play East Liberty academy at Friendship park. High school won the first, 12—11. Burns and Gardner or Herring will be the opposing twirlers.

Cronin Will Join Orioles.

DETROIT, June 11.—Jack Cronin, one of the pitchers of the Detroit club, who was released Monday, announced tonight that he would sign a contract with the Baltimore club tomorrow morning. There were several other clubs after Cronin.

THURBER TICKLES THE BEET SUGAR ORATORS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—T. R. Thurber, president of the Export association, was before the committee on Cuban relations today. Senator Teller produced a copy of a voucher for $2,880 showing that sum had been paid by the military government of Cuba, by authority of Gov. Wood, to the United States Export association. Thurber acknowledged that he received the amount and said it was one of three payments he received from the same source. The receipt was dated April 2, 1902, and states that it was for "advocating for a reduction on the duties on Cuban products, with a reciprocal reduction of United States products going into Cuba."

The news of Mr. Thurber's statement reached the senate chamber about the time that body convened and when Senator Teller, whose examination had developed the facts, made his appearance on the floor he was immediately surrounded by senators from both sides of the chamber, who professed great anxiety to know all that had occurred. Copies of the one voucher produced were eagerly sought and the demand was not satisfied until 40 or 50 copies had been typewritten and circulated in the senate chamber.

The immediate results are seen in the decision reached during the afternoon to have two caucuses. The first of these will be held by the beet sugar Republican senators tomorrow and the second by all the Republican senators Friday or Saturday.

The beet sugar senators are more hopeful than heretofore. Some of them profess to believe that the revelation will have the effect of causing a halt in the proceedings in the interest of reciprocity.

SHORT-PRICE HORSES AGAIN TOOK HONORS

Francesco Won the Myrtle Stakes Without Very Much Trouble.

RACE BETWEEN FILLIES

It Was the Interesting Event of the Afternoon—Lady Albercraft Easily Defeated Rosetint—Ethics Proved a Good Thing for Short Enders.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 11.—Short-price horses were again in evidence at Gravesend today, winning five of the six events, while Ethics, at 15 to 1, won the other event. Although the Myrtle stakes was the feature of the card, and won by the favorite, Francesco, the chief interest was in the meeting of the two fast fillies, Lady Albercraft and Rosetint, with five straight victories to Rosetint credited. They were equal choices today, and Lady Albercraft won easily by two lengths in the fast time of 1:00 4-5.

A heavy rainstorm set in as the horses were going to the post for the fourth race, and the fifth and sixth races were run on a track that was converted into a quagmire. Summaries:

First race, for all ages, handicap, about 6 furlongs—The Musketeer, 124, Shaw, 7 to 2 and 7 to 5, won; Roxane, 104, Redfern, 7 to 1 and 3 to 1, second; Hanover Queen, 97, Wonderly, 20 to 1 and 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:20 3-5. Colonel, Swamplands, Petra II., Operator, Slip Thrift, Roue and His Eminence also ran.

Second race, 6 furlongs—Lief Prince, 106, Hoar, 10 to 1, won; Emma C. L., 101, T. Dean, 7 to 2, second; Mary Pine, 94, Sheehan, 75 to 1, third. Time, 1:19 4-5. Prue, Silver Fizz, Homage, Gusto, Ernest Parham and Lucy Locke ran.

Third race, 1¼ miles, hurdle handicap—Dissenter, 130, Jackson, 10 to 1, won; Farrell, 140, Taylor, 7 to 2, second; Corrillo, 134, Clay,

COLONEL LYNCH ARRESTED FOR HIGH TREASON

Member of Parliament Who Fought With Boers Is in London Jail.

RELEASE ON BAIL DENIED

Prisoner Had Nothing to Say When Arraigned Before a Magistrate Was Elected to the House of Commons from Galway.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, June 11.—Col. Arthur Lynch, who fought with the Boers in South Africa and who in November last was elected to represent Galway in the house of commons, was arrested this morning on his arrival at New Haven, from Dieppe, France. Col. Lynch, who was accompanied by his wife, was brought to London and was afterward taken to the Bow street police station.

Subsequently Col. Lynch was arraigned in police court on the charge of high treason and was remanded until Saturday, after formal evidence of his arrest had been presented.

The prisoner, who was described on the charge sheet as a "journalist," sat in the dock, apparently unconcerned, until the magistrate asked him if he had anything to say in reply to the charge. Then he arose and replied almost instantly, "No, sir."

Lieut.-Col. John Philip Nolan, Nationalist, applied this afternoon for the release of Col. Lynch on bail, but the magistrate said he had no power to grant the request.

The Irish Nationalists in the house of commons today heckled the ministers on the subject of the arrest of Col. Lynch. They wanted to know why the colonel had not the same right to surrender as other burghers. The government leader, A. J. Balfour, replied tersely:

"He is not a burgher."

John Redmond, the Irish leader, and J. G. Swift MacNeill, Nationalist, then turned to the secretary of state for home affairs, Mr. Ritchie, and asked him why he had not fulfilled his ministerial duty by informing the house of Col. Lynch's arrest on the charge of high treason.

Mr. Ritchie denied that it is his duty to so inform the house, but when the Irish members appealed to the speaker the latter upheld the Nationalist contention that the usual practice was to inform the house of commons of such an incident through the speaker.

Further questions were ruled out of order and the subject was dropped.

LIQUOR DEALERS ELECTED OFFICERS

Retiring President Broderick Delivered His Annual Address—Convention Took a Trip on River.

J. W. Freiberg of Cincinnati was elected president of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers association yesterday. The other officers are Samuel Wertheimer, Pittsburgh, first vice president; Marion E. Taylor, Louisville, second vice president; Ephraim Brice of Philadelphia was re-elected treasurer. The secretary is yet to be appointed, but as David Stauber of Baltimore has been the secretary since the formation of the organization, and is a most efficient man, he will probably be reappointed today.

The board of control is composed of 21 members, one-third of whom are replaced each year. There were elected yesterday, for three years, the following: W. E. Broderick, Baltimore; Louis Gerstley, Philadelphia; F. C. Renziehausen, Pittsburgh; August Graff, St. Louis; G. G. Benz, St. Paul; W. N. Hobart, Cincinnati, and John Morin, Kansas City. Four of them were members of the board last year.

This meeting is the largest ever held by the association and the members are taking great interest in the proceedings. A large part of the afternoon was consumed in discussing the establishment of a bureau of state legislation. On this there will be a committee appointed by the executive committee and this committee will have sole charge of the matter.

Retiring President W. E. Broderick of Baltimore, in delivering his annual address yesterday, reviewed efforts made by the association to secure the passage of the bill now before congress providing for a reduction of the tax on distilled spirits from $1.10 to 70 cents a gallon, and said it was his opinion that there was little hope for the bill. He advised that every effort be made, however, to force it through.

A. J. Sunstein and F. C. Renziehausen, both Pittsburghers, were appointed a press committee. All resolutions were referred to the following committee on resolutions: E. L. Snyder, New York; Philip Hamburger, Pittsburgh; Leopold Einstein, Cleveland; W. J. Friday, Pittsburgh; J. W. Freiberg, Cincinnati, and G. G. Brown, Louisville. The committee will report today. The committee on rules will also report today.

The business session adjourned at 4:30 o'clock yesterday and then nearly all of the members went to the wharf, where they took the Mayflower for a ride up the river. On the way a stop was made at Homestead and the steel works were inspected.

There will be but one business session today, and that will be called to order at 10 o'clock. One of the matters to be settled then is the place of the next meeting. Buffalo, Baltimore and Louisville are the leading cities, and there is considerable rivalry. Tonight there will be a banquet at the Hotel Henry.

East Liberty Academy Graduates.

The 12th annual commencement of the East Liberty academy was held in the assembly hall of the academy yesterday afternoon. The graduating class consisted of Harry Leiber Bailey, Walter French Evans and Clark Plummer Stewart, in the scientific department; Walter Byeam Edmundson, Latin scientific; George Hay Cowan and Alexander Crolius Speyer, classical. The Rev. Thomas S. Leak, D. D., pastor of the Oakland Methodist Episcopal church, delivered an address to the class. The principal, Dr. Lewis, announced that prospects for the coming year are bright. The school will occupy its commodious new quarters, Linden avenue and Meade street, after July 1.

South Side Hospital Lawn Fete.

The Ladies' Aid society of the South Side hospital held its annual lawn fete at Southern Avenue park yesterday afternoon and evening. The rain during the afternoon interfered with the plans, but later in the day there was a very large attendance. Because of the chill and dampness of the ground, many of the booths were abandoned. Supper was served from 5:30 o'clock until 8:30. An orchestra played during the afternoon and the young people occupied the dancing pavilion in the evening.

NO CONDITIONAL ORDERS BOOKED IN STEEL TRADE

People Are Willing to Give Future Contracts and Take Chances.

STEEL RAIL POOL TIGHT

Every Mill Stands on the $28 Price That Now Rules—Similar Condition Expected to Prevail in Matter of Plates.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 11.—It has been said that some large orders recently booked by the United States Steel Corporation calling for delivery at intervals during the next 12 months were "conditional," that is, they could be canceled at pleasure. A representative of the combine said today in contradiction of this that less conditional business is now being booked than ever before in the history of the steel industry, that the aggregate of the business that has been placed in that manner is insignificant as compared with the total amount of finished steel under contract for the next 12 months. This is due directly to the fact that consumers are so anxious to provide against the future that they are willing enough to place unconditional contracts. It implies, too, that consumers as well as producers are confident of the future and have no reason to believe that prices will seek a lower level within the period of the longest future contracts.

Commenting upon the steel rail situation a prominent manufacturer said today that the price of $28 a ton fixed by the pool for next year's business has been generally accepted by consumers as a just and reasonable arrangement. Indeed, there could be no question of this, since steel billets are selling at $5 a ton higher than the pool's price for steel rails. The difference amounts actually to $6 a ton, since it costs $1 a ton more to roll rails than to produce steel billets. The railroad companies are rapidly covering their wants for the early part of 1903, and instead of there being any abatement in the demand it seems to be becoming more pronounced.

All Prices Are Uniform.

The complete authority of the steel rail pool is illustrated by the fact that there is not a mill now selling rails above $28 a ton. United States Steel Corporation interests are doing all they can to bring about a more orderly condition of things in the steel plate industry, and eventually, it is believed, the combine will be able to make the steel plate association as airtight an institution as it has already made of the steel rail pool, at least so far as prices are concerned.

Talk of an independent steel project to be located on the Pacific coast has aroused only mild interest in trade circles. A prominent manufacturer said today that established interests are not apprehensive of additional competition anywhere for at least two or three years.

The Delaware River Ship and Engine Building Company has been organized with a capital stock of $5,000,000, all common, and a bond issue of $2,500,000 which bears interest at the rate of 5 per cent a year. Papers of incorporation were filed in Trenton today. The incorporators are Osborn Congelton, George H. Cook and Harvey F. West. Osborn Congelton is president of the American Elevated Railway Company, the stocks of which recently suffered a severe slump in the outside securities market. Concerning the Delaware River Ship and Engine Building Company he said:

"A syndicate composed of myself and others bought out the John R. Roach Shipbuilding Company of Chester, one of the most important shipbuilding concerns in the country. We propose to double the capacity of the plant. The stock of the Roach company has been held by the Roach family for years. We have purchased practically all of their stock. None of the new stock will be offered to the public. With the proceeds from the stock we propose to carry out our plans of extensions and improvements. We took over the Roach company clear of all incumbrances, which is more than the shipping combination can say."

Lead Men in Session.

Representatives of the important lead producing properties of the northwest are in this city in conference with the officials of the American Smelting & Refining Company. The visit of the operators of the Coeur d'Alene district, it was said, does not signify that negotiations have been entered into for the taking over of the lead mines by the proposed lead trust. The lead miners of the northwest meet here at this time every year for the purpose of adjusting prices and governing production for the following year.

At the offices of the American Smelting & Refining Company it was said that negotiations were being talked of for placing the entire output of certain districts in Idaho with the company. The smelting company smelts about 200,000 tons of lead a month. It will be remembered that on the previous visit of the lead producers of the northwest it was said that the absorption of the lead mines of the Coeur d'Alene district by the American Smelting & Refining Company was under consideration. According to a representative of the smelting company there is now no likelihood of the mines in question being taken over.

A company which will be known as the National Paper Bag Company is organizing with a capital stock of $500,000. The company will do business in Chicago, and according to those who say they have inside information, it will manufacture products in competition with the Union Bag & Paper Company. Its headquarters will be in Chicago. Henry R. Curtis, Henry A. Callan and Charles Hickok are the incorporators of the company.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 11.—A new camp has been founded near Singiser, Idaho, on the road to Thunder mountain from Salmon City. Good prospects are being found daily, and the camp, which has already two saloons with rumbling paraphernalia erected, is likely to intercept many persons who start for Thunder mountain.

Mutterings of discontent are now coming from the new Idaho district, previously noted in these dispatches, the belief is spreading that it has been over-boomed. A correspondent writes today that opinions differ widely about the camp. Some prospectors are dissatisfied with the formation and leave after looking over the ground. Others are enthusiastic over the prospects and assert that the Dewey and Sunnyside will develop into immense gold producers.

Meanwhile there are reports of new and wonderful strikes from this section of Idaho. A sample of ore in the Lightfoot and Lightall claim assayed $480 ton the ton in gold and silver, and a 10-foot vein of $12 free gold ore has been uncovered on Warm Spring creek.

In the west end of the Gibson tunnel at Alta, Utah, a 30-inch chute is exposed that assays 91 ounces silver, 36 per cent lead and $4 60 gold per ton.

Great excitement is reported at Tonopah, Nev., over a strike six miles south of the camp, which shows values of $800 gold per ton. The ore was formed in a well-defined ledge on the grass roots.

A dispatch from Lordsburg, N. M., confirms the report of the discovery of rich gold ore in the Monitor claim of the Aberdeen Copper Company.

In a winze below the 1,000-foot level of the lower Mammonth at Tintic, Utah, a new ore body has been encountered that carries several hundred ounces silver and $10 gold. Its extent has not been determined.

Since the new owners came in possession of the Gem, at the foot of Mount Breckenridge, Cal., 800 tons of ore, yielding from $12 to $90 per ton, has been extracted, while 1,000 feet of tunnels and drifts have been run, and a very important piece of development work is being prosecuted, a tunnel which, when finished, will tunnel the mountain for a distance of 674 feet, will allow 410 feet of stope above.

A giant dredge, costing $150,000, has been ordered for installation on Lippye El Dorado claim in the Klondike district. Over 20 dredges have been sent north this spring or are now awaiting shipment.

With the exception of Silver Bow, the mines of Madison county, Montana, are attracting more attention this season than those of any other county of the state. The Rochester camp has passed the experimental stage, has been demonstrated that the ledges go down, and a great deal of capital is being invested in the camp. The mines of Virginia City, which are large corporations, are being operated at a profit. Those of Pony are also producing well, and new discoveries are frequent.

The Silbrik tunnel on Silver creek, Index district, Washington, is in 316 feet, showing a good face of ore. A mateage of seven feet across the face of the drift gave returns of $20 gold per ton.

The Metal Market.

The local market for tin was a shade firmer, with spot at 830 50@31 00. London closed nominal, unchanged, with spot at £150 10s, and futures 15s lower at £125 10s. The advance on spot was due to the strength of the New York market and the decline on forward delivery to offerings from the far east. Copper was steady here, with standard spot for August $11 70@11 90; Lake Superior, $12 25@12 60; electrolytic, $12 12½@12 30 and casting $12 12½@12 25. The London copper market was unchanged, with spot at £56 5s and futures at £54 11s 2d. Lead was steady but unchanged here at 4½c, but London declined 2s 6d to £14 5s. Spelter was quiet and nominal at New York, closing at 5.30@5.35. London was unchanged at £18 12s 6d. An unchanged and quiet market prevailed for iron locally. Warrants were nominal; No. 1 foundry northern, $21 00@22 00; No. 2 foundry northern $20 50@20 50; No. 1 foundry southern, $20 50@21 50; No. 1 foundry southern, soft, $20 50@21 50. The Hanna markets were lower. Glasgow close at 54s and Middlesboro at 49s 7d.

Western Stocks Help the Wall Street Market

ST. PAUL AND MISSOURI PACIFIC ARE THE LEADERS

CONSOLIDATION RUMORS

Reports That the Long-Expected Plan for Combining the Gould Interests Into One Corporation Is Being Perfected—Money Brokers Cautious.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 11.—There was a further expansion in dealings on the stock exchange today, which was generally attributed to the resumption of activity by the newly-returned leaders of the western group. This activity centered in St. Paul. There was, besides, an active market in Missouri Pacific, which had no apparent connection with the St. Paul movement so far as the identity of the brokers employed would reveal it.

These two stocks ran a pretty close race for the leadership of the market in point of activity, with Missouri Pacific getting rather the better of it both in the volume of dealings and in the extent of the gain. Just at the close the stock moved up more than 2 points over last night. St. Paul's extreme rise was 1⅝, and was not fully held. Between them the two stocks made up about one quarter of the aggregate dealings of the day. There were considerable gains in other stocks, but these seemed to be more or less in sympathy, and there was at the same time some selling to take advantage of this sympathetic strength.

Crop Bulletin Disappointing.

There was no evidence that any considerable outside following was attracted to the movement. The advance was made in the face of a feeling of disappointment over the monthly crop bulletin issued last night by the agricultural department. The bulletin showed none of the hoped-for improvements in the condition of winter wheat, upon which the stock market has been acting, and the effect of the high average condition of spring wheat was more than offset by the large decrease in acreage, causing a large falling off in the indicated spring wheat crop from that of last year. With continued lack of rain in some portions of the cotton belt, the influence of the crop news could not be called beneficial upon stock values. The dominant importance of the corn crop this year was thus emphasized, and it is considered likely that this importance will gain force from this time forward.

Old Rumors Renewed.

The argument was heard that an increase in the dividend on St. Paul is likely from the analogy of the increase in Chicago & Northwestern dividend. The strength of Missouri Pacific caused renewal of old rumors that the long expected plan for the consolidation of the Gould railroad interests into one corporation was being perfected. No warrant for either of these reports could be secured in any quarter of authority. The coalers were comparatively neglected, but were firm owing to the current assertion that the striking miners were likely to yield the contest soon. Nothing more was heard of plans for a compromise of the contest.

Call money was easy and in abundant supply, notwithstanding some increased demand for stock market purposes, but rates for time loans are firmly held. Rather than make concessions to place money on time, bankers prefer to keep their funds in call loans, where they are easily accessible for any future increase in the rates for time loans.

Money Brokers Cautious.

The approach of the semi-annual settlement period induces a cautious policy in the money market. The stock market closed dull and irregular.

Prices of bonds advanced. Burlington Joint 4s were in demand on the reported extension of the underwriting syndicate. Total sales, par value, $1,990,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

Wants Damages for Explosion.

Suit was entered by Jonathan P. Growall against Robert Munroe & Sons for $3,100 damages. The defendants repaired a boiler, which was represented, it is alleged, to be safe. On March 12, 1900, the boiler exploded. Frank P. Growall, a son of the plaintiff, was blown 300 feet, receiving injuries which caused his death.

Experiments in the Fifth Sand

Developments in the lower southwest continue to lag. In the old Fairview district, Marion county, W. Va., where a new fifth sand development has been attracting some little attention recently, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled a test well on the R. A. Estep farm into the Big Injun sand and has quite a good show of oil in that formation. This well was started originally for a fifth sand producer, but it will be tubed and tested in the upper sand, and if it proves a failure will be drilled to the fifth sand. In the same district the South Penn has completed its No. 12 on the Susan Yost farm and put 4l to pumping. It is producing 10 barrels a day from the fifth sand. This was an old abandoned Big Injun dropper.

Near Folsom, Wetzel county, the South Penn Company's No. 12 on the Gennie Robinson farm got nothing but a little gas in the bottom of the Gordon. It is now drilling to the fifth sand, but will scarcely get anything in that sand.

On Richwood run the Philadelphia Company's No. 18 on the John Mills tract, shot last week, has dropped to 10 barrels a day.

In the fifth sand development on Indian run, Gilmer county, the South Penn Company has completed and shot its test well on the Arnold Moore farm and has a very light well. This test is located on the west side of the development and does not make the outlook encouraging. Operations in this district are West of Salem, Harrison county, the same company has drilled its No. 13 on the Smith Varner farm through the strav and Gordon sands and got a small show of oil in each formation. It will make a light pumper.

On the west side of the "Little Germany" district in Wetzel county the Linden Oil Company has made the location and is building the rig for a test well on the Joseph W. Gallcher heirs' farm.

In the same district the South Penn Oil Company's No. 11 on the J. A. Cunningham and Redfox heirs' farms are holding up at 100 and 120 barrels a day, respectively, and are the only wells in the district producing 100 or more barrels a day.

Starting New Wells.

North of Central Point, Doddridge county, in the vicinity of the new Big Injun sand producer on the Carter Harris farm, the Carter Oil Company is starting five test wells in as many different directions from the producer named.

Southeastern Ohio.

On the Ohio side in the Macksburg field in Noble county, Johnson & Co. have drilled their test well on the Maria Ogle farm through the 500-foot sand and have a duster.

In the lower end of the Rinards Mills district in Washington county, S. H. Miller has completed his No. 3 on the R. Wilds farm and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand. In the same district the Carter Oil Company's Nos. 1 and 2 on the John and Enoch Cline farm are holding up at 60 and 100 barrels a day, respectively.

In the Corning field in Perry county, Hugh Gormley has completed his No. 2 on the Joseph McDonald farm and has a duster.

Near Port Homer, Jefferson county, H. C. DeSellem has completed No. 7 on his own farm and has a gasser.

Local Stock Market Was Again Dull and Narrow, but Steady

THE BOOM IN WINDOW GLASS THE FEATURE

The Common Stock Advanced at the Opening, but Went Off Later.

BANK STOCKS ADVANCED

Crucible Steel Issues Were Unchanged, but the U. S. Steels Advanced Fractionally — Brewing Common Was Less Active.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was again very narrow, and but for the movement in American Window Glass common, would have been exceedingly dull. The tone, however, was generally steady to firm and the changes in value at the close were in a majority of issues fractionally higher. The feature of the day was in Window Glass common, the movement starting strong at 62½. The price went almost at once to 63¼ and then broke to 63. Later it advanced to 63¾, the highest of the day, and just before the close broke again to 62¾. The wind-up was steady at 63, a gain of ⅜ since Tuesday. The advance was due to the fuller details regarding the success of the new glass blowing machine. Of course until official announcements are made the market for the stock will be irregular and subject to acute fluctuations. This was illustrated in yesterday's proceedings, when but 3,800 shares changed hands. The preferred did not sell and was only nominally quoted.

In the remainder of the list the greatest interest centered in the banking group and came just at the close. Exchange National advanced $4 to $98 and was strong at that price bid afterward. American Trust was unchanged at 120 sales, but advanced to 121 bid later. Colonial Trust rallied $2 to 382 and Real Estate Trust was $1 higher at 286. In the quotations Iron City National advanced $2 to 123 bid and National Bank of Western Pennsylvania $3 to 196. Pittsburgh Trust Company was ½ higher at 602 bid. There were the usual rumors of banking combines, but all were disclaimed. In the general list there was but little doing. Crucible Steels were dull, but steady and unchanged. United States Steels were also dull at fractional advances. Brewing common reacted fractionally on small sales and the preferred was unchanged. Pittsburgh Coal shares were a shade higher, but very dull, while River Coal issues passed without a sale. Westinghouse Electrics were firmer and higher in the bids, while a small lot of Airbrake advanced ½ to 184½. Bonds were steady to firm and in fair demand. There was nothing else worthy of special comment.

Financial Drift.

Iron City National bank stock advanced to 123 bid.

McFarlane sold 490 Trade Dollar Mining at $1 each.

At the opening Hill bid 24 for 500 Pittsburgh Coal.

Mustin bid 113¼ for all or any part of $50,000 Brewing 6s.

Hill & Co. bid 24¼ for 500 Pittsburgh Coal common near the close.

Only 8 different securities were traded in during the first half hour.

The New York banks have lost $1,799,000 to the sub-treasury since Friday.

Spoor & Co. were heavy buyers of Window Glass common. McFarlane was a big seller.

Spoor & Co. were the only sellers of Pittsburgh Brewing Company 6s, disposing of $6,000 at 113¾.

H. M. Long was the first seller of Window Glass common, disposing of 100 at 62½ and 100 at 63.

The first sale of the day was 50 Crucible Steel preferred at 87½. Then Lawrence bought 410 at 87¼.

It is said that John W. Gates will not go abroad June 25, but will postpone his trip for an indefinite time.

The buying of Atchison was credited to the Rock Island party who wish to have a voice in the management of the company.

In Boston United Copper is selling around 54½@55½. It is expected to be listed on the Boston exchange about July 1.

The General Electric Company filed with the secretary of state at Albany, N. Y., a certificate of increase of capital from $19,757,800 to $45,000,000.

Preston, Watt & Schoyer sold a block of 300 Crucible Steel preferred at 87¼ near the opening; they were also heavy buyers of Window Glass common shortly afterward.

There is a feeling among market interests that the government report is not reliable as to winter wheat, showing a much lower percentage of condition than it should have. It is pointed out that every State shows improvement of from 2 to 7 points except California and Pennsylvania, which dropped 2 and 3 points respectively.

At a meeting of the Pittsburgh clearing house association yesterday morning a proposed amendment to the constitution increasing the initiation fee from $5,000 to $10,000 was defeated. The Fort Pitt National bank and the new Mellon National bank were recommended for membership in the association. This will increase the membership to 26.

An enormous corn crop now seems extremely probable. Unless more rain the ground is so thoroughly soaked that the cereal could withstand a long protracted drought. Experts are already estimating the crop at 2,750,000,000 bushels. Until this estimate has been proven near correct it is thought that roads like the Missouri Pacific and Atchison would make phenomenal earnings.

It is Wall street gossip that the Gates-Moore people have given Mr. Vanderbilt an option on their holdings of Chicago & Northwestern at $300 a share. During the last three years Northwestern, according to its reports, has taken from income and spent on construction and betterments the sum of $13,450,000, or $1,000,000 in excess of the amount paid in dividends in the same three years.

It is said that well informed people are acting upon advice received from Morgan to buy Southern Railway for a long pull. It is not generally known that the company has the right to retire the preferred stock at par and that plans are under consideration to do this. It is thought that in this manner the position of the common stock would be improved and that the stock will have as great and rapid advance from this level as Atchison common had.

A reputed authority on Amalgamated Copper says: "It is not true that Amalgamated has a floating debt as some people intimate in published interviews. It is also safe to say Amalgamated will continue to pay dividends on same as any other copper company pays dividends. Amalgamated people are not anxious to have their stock go down, but if a decline is necessary to keep the market for copper in a healthy condition, they will not stand in the way of a decline.

WORKING HARD TO BREAK DOWN BROWNING'S CASE

Many Friends of Senator Magee Testify as to Doctor's Treatment.

AN ENVELOPE MYSTERY

G. W. Moore, Thomas Mullen and Michael Brennan Tell of Trips Taken by Magee and His Physician's Visits—No Bills Were Seen.

When the hearing of the testimony in the claim of Dr. W. C. Browning against the estate of Senator C. L. Magee was resumed in orphans' court yesterday morning, G. W. Moore continued his story about the trips taken by the senator during 1900.

He said he was with him for two months on the Atlantic City trip, and that during the first two weeks they were there Dr. Browning did not see Mr. Magee, but during the following two weeks the doctor came down from Philadelphia twice each week, and after that visited him every day.

He said during the visits to the doctor's office he had never heard Mr. Magee say that he would increase the fee from $40 to $80 an hour, and although he handled much of the correspondence had never seen a bill from Dr. Browning or a memorandum of an account.

Attorney Rodgers tried hard to break down the testimony as to dates, etc., but the witness could not be confused. Moore repeated his testimony about the attack of sickness in New York, after the yacht races in 1899. Mr. Moore said that Mr. Magee never wanted the doctor called during the night, but when suffering from attacks would use such relieving medicines as had been prescribed and wait till his hour of engagement with the doctor in the morning.

Newspaper in Evidence.

When questioned as to Mr. Magee's opinion of Dr. Browning, Mr. Moore said that no man ever held a higher opinion of another, Mr. Magee often declaring, he said, that the doctor had saved his life.

For the purpose of contradicting the testimony of the witness a copy of the Pittsburgh Times was shown in which mention was made of Mr. Magee being at the Pittsburgh Press club's banquet and making an address. The paper was dated February 23, 1900, and the witness had testified to conversations he had with the senator on February 22 in Philadelphia.

Mr. Moore told of the Saturday before Mr. Magee's death, when the senator had told him he was getting worse, it being the first time he had ever heard him express an opinion of the kind.

Charles Wolf, Mr. Magee's nurse, was recalled by Mr. Rodgers to tell whether the senator was treated at the hotel or the office. He said at both places—the office when convenient, but more treatments were given at the hotel. He also said he had a claim of $20 50 against the estate which had not been paid.

H. S. A. Stewart identified a letter written to him by Mr. Magee in October, 1900. It was introduced to fix the time Mr. Magee left Pocono for Philadelphia, to contradict previous testimony.

John V. Scott, manager of the Stratford hotel, Philadelphia, said Mr. Magee returned from Pocono in the evening of October 9.

Mullen Tells of a Promise.

Thomas Mullen testified that he visited Mr. Magee in Philadelphia in February, 1900. The witness accompanied Mr. Magee to several banks and the latter insisted upon walking, saying it would take some of the flesh off of him. The witness accompanied Mr. Magee to the office of Dr. Browning upon the same day. Mr. Mullen said that in June, 1900, he again visited Mr. Magee. At the time of the February visit, Mr. Mullen said the doctor promised that Mr. Magee would be at home and well by Easter Sunday.

James Taylor, who nursed Mr. Magee after November, 1900, testified that he gave Mr. Magee the same treatments as did Dr. Browning. He declared he accompanied Mr. Magee to Pittsburgh on Christmas, 1900. The doctor was not along and the witness said he administered the treatment to Mr. Magee.

Nurse Gave the Treatment.

After Mr. Magee had taken up his residence at Harrisburg, the witness said, Dr. Browning visited him twice a week, sometimes remaining over night. As Mr. Magee's condition grew worse the doctor's visits were made three times a week. This continued until Mr. Magee's death.

Upon cross-examination the witness said Mr. Magee had great faith in Dr. Browning, and preferred the doctor to treat him rather than the witness. Nurse Taylor said that a week before his death Mr. Magee expressed himself as believing that Dr. Browning would "have him all right yet." The witness said that from December 30, 1900, to March 8, 1901, at Harrisburg, he treated Mr. Magee more times than did the doctor, but while he attended Mr. Magee at Philadelphia as nurse, Dr. Browning administered the greater part of the treatment.

Michael Brennan was called. He testified that he was a barber, also a "cupper, leecher, dentist and nurse." He told of his 25 years' acquaintance with Mr. Magee and of having frequently accompanied Mr. Magee on trips.

Another Doctor's Opinion.

He told of having been with Mr. Magee when he visited a Philadelphia physician, who said Mr. Magee was in good condition. The witness was in Philadelphia when Mr. Magee first went to Dr. Browning's office, and upon Mr. Magee's second visit to the doctor's office the witness accompanied him. Mr. Brennan told of Mr. Magee's visits once a day to Dr. Browning's office until the witness left Mr. Magee, in May, 1900. Sometimes Dr. Browning would call upon Mr. Magee when the senator's condition would not allow him to go out. The treatments would take about 20 minutes when administered by the doctor, and when practiced by the witness they would take about one minute. He frequently heard Dr. Browning speak of having Mr. Magee cured and had heard him say that he would be sent home by St. Valentine's Day.

The witness accompanied Mr. Magee to Hot Springs and said while there he had access to all his papers, opening his mail and paying all bills. He also paid some of the bills while they were in Philadelphia, and had never seen or heard of a bill from Dr. Browning.

Mysterious Yellow Envelope.

Attorney Rodgers on cross-examination asked particularly about a certain yellow envelope in which Mr. Magee carried papers. The witness saw it while they were in Harrisburg and as quite sure he had seen it afterward.

Witness said that Mr. Magee seemed to depend a great deal on Dr. Browning and was nervous and worried when the doctor went away. He described the trips to the doctor's office and said that frequently Mr. Magee would fall asleep on the table after the treatment.

The witness told of frequently calling Dr. Browning during the night when Mr. Magee was suffering, and the doctor always responded.

He said that not all the medicines and ointments were furnished by Dr. Browning; that some were purchased at drug stores on prescriptions. There was one ointment that Dr. Browning would not let the witness apply, as he said none could do it but himself.

He told of the trip to Hot Springs with the doctor and of a trip he and Mr. Magee took down Long Island to New London, Conn. He was asked if he recalled July 5, when Mr. Magee went to the witness's home on Duquesne Heights. He said he did and said that he was laid up at the time. Mr. Magee walked from the incline to his home, about two blocks, and complained of feeling very tired.

DISCHROEDER IS GUILTY.

Verdict of Manslaughter Returned Against Him for the Killing of Thomas Connelly.

Oscar Dischroeder was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter and recommended to the extreme mercy of the court for the killing of Thomas Connelly of Sharpsburg. The defendant, Connelly and a number of other persons attended a gathering on Clark's farm, near Sharpsburg. A fight was started, during which Connelly was severely beaten by the defendant. The dead man's sister, Delia Woods, testified that Connelly had told her that the defendant had beaten him.

Before Connelly died Justice William Robinson acknowledged a sworn statement of the deceased that the defendant beat him into insensibility. This statement was presented in court.

The defendant denied that he struck Connelly, and said that he called on him before he died, and that Connelly told him he fell over a high bank and received his injuries.

Joseph Varos pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife, Mary Varos, of Natrona, and was sentenced to the workhouse for four months.

INJUNCTION REFUSED.

Judge Shafer Will Not Restrain Railway Company From Crossing Another's Line.

Judge Shafer handed down an opinion in the equity suit of the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company against the Pittsburgh & Charleroi Street Railway Company, refusing a preliminary injunction. The action was to restrain the defendant from maintaining its tracks upon a street in Castle Shannon, and from crossing the plaintiff's line at another point.

Judge Shafer says the preliminary injunction is refused upon the ground that the right of way belonging to the defendant is conditioned on the completion of part of the road within 60 days, and that if a restraining order be issued it would be unable to complete its line.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Alfred B. Bailey of Duquesne bequeathed a $2,550 estate to his widow.

By the will of James Welsh of Pittsburgh a small estate is left to the decedent's nephew, Leo J. Dunn.

Joseph C. Staud and Joseph Staud, Jr., were discharged from bankruptcy. These cases have been in court for three years.

The will of Andrew Schaub of Pittsburgh was filed. An estate worth $55,000 is bequeathed to Magdelena Schaub, widow of the decedent.

Annie Bobinski sued the Hazel Kirk Coal Company for $10,000 damages. Her husband was killed in the company's mines in Washington county.

The bill in equity of M. F. Lynch against the city of Pittsburgh, to restrain it from letting contracts for printing to certain newspapers, was dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff.

George H. Hershberger took out letters of administration on the $5,000 estate of Alice B. Hershberger. Sophia E. McCargo took out letters of administration on the estate of Robert M. McCargo.

The will of Esther J. Heany of Pittsburgh was filed. The decedent's four sons, John, Norman, Brainerd and Frank, receive $500 each; Jesse, another son, is to get $1,700. The residue of the estate is to be divided among the five sons.

Executions were issued as follows: John M. Bakard vs. Flint & Co., $514 94; German National Bank vs. A. Y. Stitt, $814 72; same vs. Paul Casper et ux, $4,487 49; Mrs. Ella Steele vs. William R. Heckert, $2,415 44; Prudential Trust Company vs. Plummer G. Collins et al., $6,000; B. Davis vs. David M. Moore et al., $469 12.

An opinion was handed down by Judge Shafer upon a question whether a judgment entered against D. W. Kuhn as trustee in the old Pittsburgh Savings bank case is a lien upon the trust property or a lien upon his personal property. The court decides that if it is a lien it is against the personal property, and the word "trustee" is stricken out in the judgment.

Henry H. Shafer, as the Columbian Cigar Company or Shafer Bros., of Elliott borough, yesterday filed a petition in bankruptcy. His brother, Edward W. Shafer, was required to show cause why he should not be declared a bankrupt. The liabilities of the firm are given at $81,108 07, and assets $2,600. The liabilities of Henry H. Shafer are nothing and his assets $850 50.

Fine Parasols---Much Less Than Usual.

$2 each for those that sell for $6, $4 and $3; $3 each for those that sell for $4 to $8.00.

We have been waiting for the word from a famous maker that he was about to clean up stock. It came and we took a great lot of his best specimens.

He pocketed his loss with much sang froid—as though we had done him a great favor. And perhaps we did.

All coachings—fancy checks, stripes and plain centers with borders.

All colors, including black and white. Best taffeta, best finish.

Choose from those that sell regularly for $3, $4 and $6, for $2.

Those for $3—regularly $4 to $8—are not any better as to material, but the designs and colorings are somewhat superior.

On the whole this is a Parasol snap.

Stockings 25c Pair.

A Special Price for a Great Variety of Women's and Children's.

Quarter-of-a-dollar is an easy price for an every-day stocking—but when you choose from this lot at that price you will not have 25-cent goods. Most of them are regular 50-cent stockings.

Of course if you desire finer stockings and higher priced stockings they are here. We can sell you stockings costing a good many dollars—$15 or $20.

But see what 25 cents will do:

25c a pair—never sold for less than 50c—100 dozens containing several varieties—fancy cotton and lisle thread in red, blue and tan with different sized dots and assorted stripes in various colors; red drop stitch embroidered in large white and black silk dots; plain black extracted in white designs; plain red, pink, sky, yellow and royal, extracted in black designs. Rather nice picking for 25c.

25c a pair—worth 35c: New lot of Lisle Thread Stockings for women and children. Our own importation. Plain black and plain white with lace stripe effects. Parts that wear out quickest all reinforced.

Rain-Coats.

Men's and Boys', Women's and Children's—latest and best examples of dressiness as now expected of rain-coats.

Tailor-made, turning water like rubber and yet no rubber about them, tasty colors.

Women's Rain-Coats—tan, gray and black, and a very pretty greenish mixture—some just plain ulsters, others with small shoulder capes—$12, $15, $18 to $28.

Girls' Rain-Coats—plain oxford gray—36 to 52 inches—$10. Tan and blue Mackintoshes with detached cape, $4.50 to $6.50.

Men's Rain-Coats—nice ones for $10. But the fine Coats will cost anywhere from $16 to $30. Gray, tan and olive green.

A specially fine and dressy Rain-Coat of extremely light weight, to wear with full dress, $30.

Boys' Rain-Coats, of same material as those for men, $10.
